SHERADEN HORROR WILL PROBABLY COST 45 LIVES

List of Casualties Grows, Almost With Every Hour, and Many Are Reported Dying in Hospitals.

CORONER'S INACTIVITY THE CAUSE OF CONFUSION

The list of those killed and injured in yesterday's catastrophe at the Sheraden yards continues to grow. It is believed that the number of dead will reach 45 before the last reports are received from the hospitals and homes where the stricken victims are lying. The number of injured is almost incalculable, exceeding 350. In addition to the list of 205 injured published in yesterday's Gazette 55 additional were reported yesterday.

It is still impossible to give an accurate list of the dead. This is due in a large measure to the seeming inactivity of the coroner's office. At last midnight he had only received reports of 15 dead, and his office had made no effort to gather data on the subject. The Pennsylvania railroad surgeons, who certainly have no motive for swelling the list, reported seven additional, and reports from Sheraden indicated that the foreigners living near there had carried at least three of their countrymen away dead, leaving no record of their names.

The result of the coroner's inactivity has been almost incredible confusion. Scores of persons have been calling up the newspaper offices, railroad headquarters and hospitals in a vain effort to learn if missing members of their families were among the dead.

No effort has been made to fix the responsibility for the horror, and it will be practically useless to make any investigation after the traces of evidences of the cause of the explosions have been removed. The railroad company had hundreds of men at work on the scene yesterday, and the wreckage is almost cleared away.

In addition to those reported as injured in this morning's Gazette, there are scores who have not been reported. One physician in Carnegie has had 86 victims under his care, and refuses to divulge their names.

After a most careful and searching investigation The Gazette this morning announces the following list, composed exclusively of the dead, the practically dying, and the injured who were not included in yesterday's list. Of the 80 odd now in the hospitals 21 are expected to die within the next 24 hours.

HEARTRENDING SCENES IN STRICKEN SHERADEN

Only a Handful of Children Attended Borough Schools Yesterday---Scores of Little Ones Burned---Several Bodies Reported Found.

The borough of Sheraden was a saddened place last night. Everywhere sorrow was manifested. It seemed to be general and deep. Residents of the town who were uninjured by the explosion spent the entire evening visiting the injured and ministering to them.

The homes over which the angel of death hovered were visited by hundreds of sympathizing neighbors, relatives and friends and no other subject was discussed except the terrible catastrophe and how the unfortunate victims lost their lives and were seriously injured.

All day little groups of women and children gathered in the principal streets of the town and discussed the explosion, and last night these groups were augmented by the husbands, fathers and brothers, and it was midnight before the streets were cleared of people.

It seemed in some quarters that the residents were almost afraid to retire. Superstitious persons in the little groups quoted the adage that where one accident of the kind happened two more were soon to follow.

Schools Almost Deserted.

The public schools of the town were almost deserted yesterday. Parents whose children had escaped the mighty flames were afraid to allow them out of their sight. Of the 700 children enrolled in the schools but 200 attended their classes yesterday.

Out of the 500 absentees Prof. F. L. Hannum estimates that fully 100 were burned by the explosion in the Panhandle yards on Monday evening. The school children yesterday appeared to be terror-stricken. Very few of them left their homes early in the day except in company with a member of the family.

Donald Smith and Alvin Fife, who were both killed in the explosion, attended the same room at school. The children who attended yesterday could talk of nothing else but the death of their classmates and the injury of scores of others. The excitement was such that it was almost impossible for the various teachers to hear their classes.

A collection fund was started yesterday among the school children. Not much money was raised, but the start was made and as soon as the other pupils return to recitations it is believed that quite a neat little sum will be taken up for the relatives of the victims.

Bodies Spirited Away.

One of the main features of the aftermath of the explosion discussed by the citizens of Sheraden last night was the supposed finding of the three men's bodies on Melrose hill early yesterday morning. These finds were reported, but not a man, woman or child could be found in the borough last night to verify the finds.

The most well founded report was circulated about 11 o'clock last night to the effect that the bodies found were those of Hungarian laborers who had been discovered by their fellow countrymen and spirited away.

There is much credence given this story, as two "Huns" almost frantic were seen in the vicinity of Sheraden passenger station after the explosion Monday night looking for their brothers whom they knew had been killed. The charred body of another victim was reported found in the wreckage last night.

Their body of a boy, supposedly about 12 years old, was reported to have been found in a deep rayine on the Douglass farm early yesterday morning, but this report could not be verified up to a late hour last night.

There was hardly a man, woman or child who had witnessed the burning tank cars from the hillsides on Monday night that did not suffer some injury. The physicians of Sheraden were kept busy all day yesterday and all night last night ministering to the injured.

Early yesterday morning the officials of the railroad company notified the physicians to keep an accurate account of all the persons whose injuries they dressed and send their bills to the company. Chain agents of the railroad company were reported to be working among the injured last night.

To show how general and far-reaching the flames extended, five children of Alfred Bennett were playing on the front porch of their residence when the third explosion took place Monday night. All were severely burned. There were two boys and three girls, and the family lives in Merwyn avenue at the extreme top of Melrose hill. The children's ages range from 3 to 11 years, and the Bennett home last night resembled a hospital. The house is located fully 800 feet above the scene of the explosion.

Three sons of A. Hoover, whose ages run from 5 to 10, were also badly burned at their home on Melrose hill. The backs of their heads, necks and ears suffered the worst from the flames.

A Pathetic Case.

Extremely pathetic in every particular was the return of the body of little Donald Smith to the home of his parents in Sheraden yesterday afternoon. His mother, Mrs. Jerome Smith, is said to have raved over the sad return, and it is feared she may lose her mind if she recovers from the shock at all.

The lad was the son of Jerome Smith, a train dispatcher for the Panhandle railroad at Sheraden. He was the youngest of five children and a great favorite with his mother.

The little fellow was at home when the first explosion occurred Monday afternoon and when it was learned that a great fire was in progress in the railroad yards Mrs. Smith is said to have allowed the boy to go and look at it.

The boy was given instructions to keep at a safe distance and return home early for supper, and is said to have left the hillside and started down the road toward home just as the explosion took place. His body was burned almost beyond recognition, and he died at the Allegheny General hospital soon after reaching there.

Mrs. Smith was in great agony last night. She was compelled to have the services of a physician all night and her life is despaired of.

Fireman's Sad Case.

Dallas Bard, the fireman of the ill-fated train, lived in East Liverpool, O. It is said he was to have been married on Decoration day to a daughter of the Sheraden yardmaster, and all preparations had been made for the event.

Charles Heartig, aged 14 years, the Carnegie boy who was killed by the explosion, was warned by his mother on Monday evening to stay away from the fire, but insisted upon going and reached there just in time to catch the full force of the explosion, which did the great damage. A Carnegie physician says that about 35 people have come to him with burned hands and faces as a result of of the accident.

Extra police protection has been secured in Sheraden. Following such catastrophes towns are generally visited by crooks and thugs and to prevent this six extra policemen have been sworn in, increasing the force to ten. Capt. E. P. Harris is in charge of the men and is keeping a strict watch on all trains entering and all suspicious characters will be arrested. The railroad company has placed a line of secret service men along their tracks to prevent the looting of cars.

NO STEPS ARE TAKEN TOWARD INVESTIGATION

Coroner Has Not Yet a Complete List of Those Who Were Killed by Fire.

Although the Sheraden disaster has been the greatest in the history of Allegheny county, Coroner McGeary has made no effort to investigate the cause of that catastrophe. No date has been set for an inquest. As a result of this great confusion prevails as to the names and exact number of those that were killed in the explosion, and several people are still searching for missing ones.

The official report of the dead made by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is in excess of the number shown on the coroner's reports. There is no record of a number of persons reported by the Sheraden authorities in the coroner's office. Although there are more deputies employed in the office of the coroner than ever before, not one of them has been assigned to ascertain the exact number that were killed. A party of Italians carried away a number of their injured countrymen, and it is said that several of these have since died.

It is very probable that the exact number of those who were killed will never be determined by Coroner Jesse M. McGeary. Yesterday his deputies confined the work in their office to taking the identification of the dead reported to them.

While the investigation was being carried on by the railroad company at Sheraden Coroner McGeary had no representative there during the day.

When the terrible scenes were being enacted in Sheraden Coroner McGeary did not detail anyone to look after the disposition of the dead bodies. It was learned last night from some of his deputies that he would in all probability make an investigation of the disaster during the latter part of the week.

Until late last night there had been only 15 dead persons reported to the coroner's office. From the reports submitted by the Pennsylvania railroad and the bodies found by the Sheraden authorities that number will be greatly exceeded. Twenty-five dead persons were reported to representatives of The Gazette. Ten of these deaths have not been reported to the coroner's office. Most of these bodies have been taken to their homes and no form of an official investigation has been made.

Officers of the Ill-Fated Roraima Unable to Take Their Minds From Their Awful Experience.

ST. PETTS, B. W. I., May 13.—(Copyright Cable.)—All the survivors of St. Pierre are still dazed by the terrible experience through which they passed. First Officer Scott, Assistant Purser Thomas and Cooper Taylor are in a pitiable condition.

Scott, who lost a son who was about to enter college, cannot take his mind from the scenes of last Thursday. He was the last to leave the dead-strewn deck of the Roraima, which was then burning itself out. All three men speak in the highest terms of Capt. Lebris of the French cruiser Suchet.

This in Addition to Some 40,000 Lives Wiped Out on the Sister Island of Martinique, from Another Volcano.

U. S. CONSUL AYME'S HEROIC WORK AMONG THE SURVIVORS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Fort de France, Island of Martinique, May 13.—It is estimated that the total number of deaths on the island of St. Vincent from the volcanic eruption reached 2,000. Most of the victims are said to be Carib Indians. Their roll of dead is in addition to that of some 40,000 on the island of Martinique.

La Soufriere, on St. Vincent, was in full eruption May 10. A stream of stone and mud half a mile wide was then issuing from the volcano. Stones two inches in diameter fell 12 miles away. At Kingston, the capital of the island, the ashes were two inches deep.

Seven estates on the island have been burned to ashes, and it is authentically reported that two earthquakes occurred there. It is believed the submarine cables in St. Vincent have been broken by the disturbances.

The present volcanic eruption on St. Vincent is the first since 1812.

Gov. Hunt of Porto Rico has asked Louis H. Ayme, the United States consul at Guadaloupe, who is now here, what assistance he could render. Gov. Hunt's offer has been communicated to the government, which will gladly accept it.

Consul Ayme's Heroic Work.

The United States government tug Potomac, which came to Martinique from San Juan, Porto Rico, cruised along the coast yesterday afternoon. She encountered an inky black column of smoke which made it necessary to go five miles out of her course. The Potomac leaves here tonight for St. Vincent island.

Every praise is given United States Consul Ayme. He has worked indefatigably to succor the survivors. He has bandaged the limbs of the wounded and has worked without sleep and without food. He is now thoroughly exhausted. Forty persons rescued from the city are in hospital here.

Words fail to describe the situation at St. Pierre. A small detachment of French troops is making efforts to bury the dead, although the government seems to be strikingly unconcerned as to what is done in this direction.

Corpse Thieves at Work.

The looting of the dead has begun. While coming to Fort de France the Potomac picked up a boat containing five colored and one white man whose pockets were filled with coin and jewelry, the latter evidently stripped from the fingers of the dead. Lieut. B. B. McCormick, commander of the Potomac, arrested these men and turned them over to the commander of the French cruiser Suchet for punishment. The Potomac also brought a ton of supplies to Martinique. A woman named Laurent, employed as a servant at St. Pierre in the house of M. Gabriel, and who was among those taken to the hospital in this city, in describing her experiences, said that on the day of the calamity she heard a loud report and thereupon fainted. When she regained her senses, a few hours later, she was horribly burned. Glancing around, she saw two members of the Gabriel family still alive, but they died before assistance could reach them.

Mlle. Laurent, although she lived for some time after being taken to the hospital, and was conscious while under the care of the physicians, died without being able to impart any additional information.

Ship Captain's Heroism.

When the cable repair ship Pouyer-Quertier, Capt. Thirion, started on her mission of mercy, she had to pass through clouds of burning cinders at the risk of catching fire, in order to reach the terror-stricken people ashore; but, as already announced, she succeeded in bringing to this port 456 peole, mainly former residents of the village of Precheur. This was on Saturday. Since then the steamer, as the result of other darling trips, has succeeded in bringing many other persons to Fort de France. On Sunday she rescued 923 persons and piloted the French cruiser Suchet and the Danish cruiser Valkyrien, which took on board 1,500 persons.

The Pouyer-Quertier has distributed to the sufferers large quantities of biscuits, milk, wine and cheese.

The specie in the public treasury at St. Pierre is still buried under a layer of lava about six to eight meters thick. Jewels valued at 1,000,000 francs were rescued from the Bank of St. Pierre yesterday.

Vagaries of the Volcanic Shower.

The path of the volcanic torrent which swept over St. Pierre is marked in a strange manner. The vicinity of the shore where vessels anchored was swept by a whirlwind of volcanic gas which ripped, tore and shattered everything in its passage, but left few traces of cinders behind. On the other hand, the fort, center and adjoining parts of St Pierre are buried under a thick bed of cinders which consumed everything beneath it.

The northern section of the island is depopulated. Provisions are needed here immediately for 100,000 people. A shipload of lime is also needed at St. Pierre for sanitary purposes. The stench from the dead bodies is overpowering.

Mont Pelee was still sending up smoke and fire late last night.

Many strange and incomprehensible incidents are recounted of St. Pierre. The charred remains of a woman were found with a silk handkerchief unburned and in perfect condition held to her lips. The crisped bodies of girls have been found, but the shoes they were were unhurt.

The Italian consul at Barbados has recovered the body of his daughter who was visiting in St. Pierre at the time of the disaster.

Margaret Stokes, the 9-year-old daughter of the late Clement Stokes of New York, who, with her mother, a brother aged 4 and a sister aged 3, was on the ill-fated British steamer Roraima, is in the hospital here. The child is not expected to live. Her nurse, Clara King, says she was in her state room when the steward of the Roraima called out to her: "Look at Mont Pelee!"

She went on deck and saw a vast mass of black cloud coming down from the volcano. The steward ordered her to return to the saloon, saying, "It is coming." Miss King rushed to the saloon. She experienced a feeling of suffocation, which was followed by intense heat.

The after part of the Roraima broke out in flames. Ben Benson, the carpenter of the Roraima, who is now in the hospital here severely burned, assisted Miss King and Margaret Stokes to escape. With the help of Mr. Scott, the first mate, he constructed a raft with life preservers. Upon this Miss King and Margaret were placed. While this was being done Margaret's little brother died. Mate Scott brought the child water at great personal danger, but it was unavailing.

Two Girls Picked Up.

Shortly after the death of the little boy Mrs. Stokes succumbed. Margaret and Miss King eventually got away on the raft and were picked up by the steamer Korona. Mate Scott also escaped. Miss King did not sustain serious injuries. She covered the face of Margaret with her dress, but still the child probably was fatally burned.

The only woman known to have survived the disaster at St. Pierre was a negress named Filotte. She was found in a cellar Saturday afternoon, where she had been for three days. She was still alive, but fearfully burned from head to toes. She died in the hospital here.

In the section of the city known as the Mouillege no sign of fire is visible, but everything seems to have been rent and scattered as by a tornado. The iron bedsteads in the hospital are twisted, but bear no mark of heat. The bed clothes and all textiles in the hospital simply vanished.

In the neighborhood of the creek several houses were found intact, but their inhabitants were all dead and appeared to have been killed by lightning. Here the bodies were lying, sitting and reclining in curiously life-like attitudes.

Ruins Growing Cooler.

As a result of the measures taken by the authorities, access to St. Pierre is now easier. The ruins of the town have ceased smoking. Two thousand corpses have been found in a carbonized condition. The rain of fire ceased 200 yards from the village of Le Carbet.

The gases absorbed by the bodies of the victims caused them to burst and the fire coming afterward carbonized them. This was followed by a rain of stones which enveloped the town, but there was not, as has been said, any flow of incandescent lava.

A gardener at the village of Morne Rouge, seven kilometres from St. Pierre, saw, at the moment of the disaster, seven luminous points on Mont Pelee. He says he had the impression of being violently drawn toward the volcano by a powerful current of air. Then the mountain opened, according to the description of the gardener, and flung tornadoes of fire at St. Pierre.

800 INHABITANTS OF LE PRECHEUR PERISH

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

FORT DE FRANCE, MARTINIQUE, May 13.—I have just returned from the ruins of St. Pierre, unable longer to withstand the terrible hardships and encounter the horrible sights that were with me every minute of the 24 hours of my stay there.

Reports that all of the inhabitants of the village of Le Precheur had been brought to this city are not true. A great wave of lava swept across one portion of the village, destroying the lives of about 800 inhabitants. The others fled to the seashore and were rescued by the French cruiser Suchet. Other villages at the foot of Mont Pelee were destroyed by the lava, which flowed along the courses formerly followed by the rivers.

When I reached St. Pierre I was surprised that more of the dead were not in sight. Not more than 1,000 bodies were strewn along the streets, the others being at least partly buried under the mantle of ashes and cinders spread by Mont Pelee.

Every moment of my stay in St. Pierre I feared that the volcano would again belch forth its billows of death-dealing fire. It continues active, throwing out lava in streams, which flow down its sides, changing the surface of the northern end of the island every hour.

It is the stench and the danger of pestilence that make St. Pierre a place of even greater horror than was caused by the first result of the explosion of Mont Pelee. All of the bodies first found on the surface have been burned by the French soldiers, but few of those in the ruins have been dug out. It will require months, unless a greater force of men is employed, before the dead are properly disposed of.

The sand and ashes that cover the city are still hot. Waves of heat come down over the crater of the volcano, making work among the ruins difficult when it is not absolutely impossible.

Indignation against Gov. Mouttet grows as the panic of the survivors subsides. It is remembered that while Mont Pelee was threatening and giving warning of the disaster it was about to work, the governor refused to permit any general exodus from St. Pierre.

TO RECEIVE AID FOR ST. PIERRE VICTIMS

Col. A. J. Logan and H. C. Frick Appointed for This Purpose by President Roosevelt.

Col. A. J. Logan and H. C. Frick were yesterday appointed a special committee by President Theodore Roosevelt to take charge of any funds contributed in Pittsburgh for the sufferers from the volcanic eruption in the islands of Martinique and St. Vincent. The president's cabinet held a meeting yesterday, at which almost the entire time was devoted to talking over ways and means for helping the sufferers. Finally an appeal was issued and committees appointed for the different cities and localities of the country. These committees are requested to take charge of all money contributed and then to forward it to the Hon. Cornelius N. Bliss of New York, treasurer of the New York committee. New York is to be used as a general distributing point in this connection.

Both Col. Logan and Mr. Frick will serve on this committee and will arrange a plan of campaign this morning. Notice of their appointment was not received until late yesterday and then Col. Logan immediately communicated with Mr. Frick on the subject. The two gentlemen will meet this morning and have a talk over the situation and after that meeting will make some announcement as to how contributions may be sent.

APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE

Roosevelt Appoints a Committee in Each Large City to Receive Private Contributions, H. C. Frick and A. J. Logan to Serve for Pittsburgh.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., May 13.—President Roosevelt's measure of relief for the stricken people of Martinique and St. Vincent will prevail. The senate today passed another bill increasing the total appropriation to $500,000. This bill has now gone to the house committee on appropriations, and Chairman Cannon said tonight that if it is found tomorrow, or the day following, that this increase is necessary, the house would act promptly.

Meanwhile, at 4:40 this afternoon, President Roosevelt signed the bill passed by both branches yesterday appropriating $200,000 as a relief fund, and that sum is now available for immediate use.

Senator Cullom, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, to which was referred the president's message urging an appropriation of $500,000, reported out a bill today appropriating $300,000 in addition to the $200,000 passed yesterday. This was the result of various conferences between the president and Senator Cullom and other important members of the senate.

A White House Announcement.

President Roosevelt also has appealed for private as well as public relief for the sufferers of the Martinique cataclysm. Following the cabinet meeting today this announcement was made at the White House:

The president has appointed a committee to receive funds for the relief of the sufferers from the recent catastrophe in Martinique and St. Vincent. The gentlemen appointed from each city are asked to collect and receive funds from their localities and neighborhoods as expeditiously as possible and forward them to Cornelius Bliss, treasurer of the New York committee, which committee will act as central distributing point for the country. The president directs all the postmasters throughout the country, and requests the presidents of all the national banks, to act as agents for the collection of contributions, and to forward the same at once to Mr. Bliss at New York. The postmasters will be directed to report to the postmaster general within 10 days any funds collected on this account.

Before the president appealed for private contributions the state department had heard from citizens and organizations. The Pittsburgh chamber of commerce telegraphed, asking if contributions would be received and where they should be sent. Pittsburgh is represented on the committee appointed by the president by H. C. Frick and A. J. Logan.

By noon, so rapidly had the government's agents worked, that already the war department alone had spent over $100,000 of the relief appropriation.

How the Work Will Be Divided.

The war and navy departments have decided to divide the work of relief between them so as to give the navy full charge of the general subject of transportation and intrust the war department with the accumulation of the supplies.

A telegram was received today from the Dixie, saying that she would proceed to Brooklyn this afternoon and begin loading the supplies of food and clothing which have been so diligently gathered by the army officers in charge of that work. This she probably will not be able to get under way for Martinique until tomorrow.

The executive committee of the Red Cross met at the state department today and sent a delegation to the White House to ask the president how they might best aid him in the distribution of relief.

Offers of assistance for the Martinique sufferers continue to pour in. Dr. Louis Klopsch, New York, telegraphed the war department today, offering to furnish 50 nurses, 30 male and 20 female, and 1,000 barrels of flour for the stricken islands.

The plans of the commissary department of the army contemplate the supply of 40,000 rations for 14 days. The quartermasters' department is purchasing clothing supplies for 40,000 people, and the medical department is working in proportion in its purchases.

The Buffalo has been ordered to be put in readiness for immediate use as a food and supply transport in case it should be decided to send more supplies than the Dixie will carry.

Appeal From the Red Cross.

John M. Wilson, first vice president of the American National Red Cross association, was directed at a meeting of the executive committee of the association today to issue a public appeal for aid for the Martinique sufferers. The people are asked to send money and supplies to Cornelius Bliss of New York city, or money direct to W. J. Fletcher, treasurer of the American Red Cross association, at Riggs' bank, Washington.

Miss Clara Barton, president of the Red Cross, is now en route for St. Petersburg as a delegate from the United States to the Red Cross convention there.

The Revised Story.

Traces of the fearful wreck in the Panhandle railroad yards at Sheraden were rapidly disappearing yesterday afternoon under the busy hands of hundreds of workmen and by the work of two steam cranes. Still it will be weeks before the last evidences of the fury of the explosion are wiped out, as houses in the vicinity, trees and even grass show where the blazing oil laid its burning hand.

At the time the explosion took place the freight yards were filled with cars of all descriptions, mostly loaded and waiting to be made up into trains and taken away. Several tank cars filled with naphtha were among the cars waiting to be taken away, and they were being switched into a train when the accident took place. It was one of these cars which caused all the trouble by springing a leak.

The first two or three cars to catch fire and explode did not do much damage and only two or three people were hurt by them. These were railroad employes who were burned a little before they could escape. It was later, when the flames were being fought and hundreds of the inhabitants of the vicinity were standing about watching the fire, that the real damage was done. Then the hillsides were covered with people from all over that part of the county, attracted by the sound of the first explosions and by the gleaming light of the fires blazing in several portions of the yard.

Several Explosions Occurred.

Wrecking crews and railroad police had been summoned from all parts of the division and the officers were doing their best to clear the yards of the people attracted there by curiosity. A little knot of railroad employes was standing some little distance from where the last of the naphtha cars which exploded was burning. One man suggested that the car in question was apt to explode, but the others ridiculed him, saying that an oil car afire, when it had a vent such as the burning car, would not explode. They had not finished trying to convince the one man when the car exploded and pieces of it flew in all directions.

The blazing naphtha was thrown high in the air, way up into the cloud of smoke which hung like a pall over the valley in which the yard is situated. Once well above the ground the blazing fluid spread out over the hills lining the valley and began falling on the heads of the hapless people who were standing about watching the progress of the fire in the yards.

Tank Blown to Pieces.

One huge piece of metal from the burst tank was blown directly toward the little group of railroad men. It zigzagged about, from side to side, hitting the ground and bounding up in the air again. Some of the party threw themselves on the ground beside the wrecking engine to escape it, while others simply waited to see what it would do.

Finally the huge piece of metal bounded between them and killed a brakeman immediately behind where the party had been standing. He had been standing looking on, not engaged at the time, and evidently did not notice the great piece of metal flying toward him. He was struck on the top of the head and killed almost instantly, the force being great enough to jolt books and tickets from his pockets.

The tank was broken into several pieces, all of them being blown different directions. One end of the tank landed far down in the yards toward the river. The large piece which killed the brakeman went some 150 yards up toward Sheraden station and finally landed on a hillside. Smaller sections were lying about the yards and on the hillsides on all sides.

Many Terribly Burned.

In a short time car after car caught fire and was blazing fiercely. It is supposed that about 25 cars, most of them loaded, were completely demolished before anything could be done to check the advance of the blaze. Coke cars, coal cars, cars loaded with lumber and steel, caught fire and burned down to the steel trucks. The wreckage was piled along the tracks for almost a quarter of a mile.

Immediately after the explosion the crowds on the hills began to run about with blazing clothing, some falling to the ground and screaming in their agony. Assistance was sent for and parties began going about the yards and hillsides rendering what aid they could and making identifications wherever it was possible.

As rapidly as possible the dead were picked up and one of the sheds in the yard was transformed into a temporary morgue, until the corpses could be removed to the city. Street cars were pressed into service and the injured brought to Pittsburgh, where hospital ambulances and patrol wagons waited for their arrival to take the injured to the hospitals.

Fearful Sheet of Flame.

"There were many instances where a person well acquainted with one of the injured was utterly unable to identify him on account of burned and blackened flesh. Men who were burned until the flesh was dropping from their limbs, with blackened and burned faces, were able to talk and tell their names after they had been given temporary relief.

The railroad yards at Sheraden lie in a valley, every level foot of which is covered by the railroad tracks. About the yards were many small buildings, used for various purposes by the employes of the road. All of these buildings were destroyed by fire, even to the telegraph station in the yards. Way up on the hillsides, fully 200 feet above the blazing freight cars, trees were ignited by the sheets of blazing oil which fell on them.

Here and there were bits of charred and burned clothes, dragged off by some unfortunate sightseer caught by the rain of fire following the last explosion. Down in the yards were hats and caps, one with the entire top blown out, another with brim burned, all lying where they were cast aside by their owners in fleeing from the stream of fire falling on them from above.

Long Fight With Fire.

All night long the railroad employes and firemen fought the flames, and finally began to get them under control. Wrecking crews and steam cranes were shipped in to straighten out the seemingly hopeless condition of the yards. Finally one track and then another was opened to traffic and after several hours of delay trains westward resumed operations. Hundreds of track laborers worked all day yesterday shoveling away the debris and wreckage, taking up rails bent and twisted out of shape by the fierce heat and relaying track where it had been completely burned out.

In spite of the rain which fell the greater part of the day, hundreds of sightseers stood about on both hillsides watching the gangs of workmen making repairs. Two immense steam cranes worked taking away bent rails and such heavy things and piling them into a long train on steel cars which had been sent down to carry the wreckage away. Great crowds of men armed with shovels worked about the wreckage of some car which had burned down to its steel trucks leaving its contents either in a smouldering pile where it had stood or piled about showing the scars left by the fierce blaze.

Railroad police had been summoned from almost every spot on the division between Pittsburgh and Columbus. These men formed a guard all about the yards and would not let sightseers down, warning them back to the hilltops, from which points a very comprehensive view of the yards could be obetained.

Within the next day or two practically everything will be repaired and put back into its usual condition.

WRECKED CARS WERE PROPERLY INSPECTED

Railroad Official Denies That the Naphtha Was Escaping Before Yards Were Reached.

By noon today there will be practically no marks in the Sheraden railroad yards of the great disaster of Monday evening. Nearly 1,000 men were at work all day yesterday removing the debris from the fire and explosions, tearing up the charred box-cars and with great steel cranes lifting the mishappen pieces of coke racks and steel couplers into other cars to take them to the scrap pile. As the tracks were cleared other gangs laid new ties and rails in place of the ties burned and the rails warped by the great heat. Many of the men at work wore bandages, their wounds and burns not being serious enough to keep them from their task.

The report was spread yesterday that the oil tank that started the trouble by leaking upon a signal lamp had been leaking before it was bumped into the other cars and that it was, therefore, already dangerous. This statement Supt. McCarty denied. "The cars are inspected carefully when received and not taken unless in good condition," he said. "The cars are marked 'explosive' and are handled with particular care. The rules provide that no tank car shall be placed nearer than five cars from the locomotive and that at night no torch or lantern shall be taken close to them."

THE WEATHER.

Rain.

The weather man, the most fickle of all men and one with so many ideas on weather that he cannot take care of all of them, has again lost his reputation for being a good fellow. In his own defense he claims that his fall from grace was brought about through accident rather than design or meanness and that he had no intention of getting "gay." Never at a loss for an excuse when accused of saying he intended doing one thing and then doing directly the opposite, he yesterday sprung a new gag in his efforts to escape censure for running into the rain belt. His tale is that after the fine weather of the past few days he was suddenly seized with a fear that the rain machine was out of order, and while testing the valve yesterday morning he turned it on too far and allowed .30 of an inch of rain to get through. He claims he cannot have the valve adjusted tomorrow, so more rain and cloudy weather are predicted for today with a rising temperature.

...IOUS CROWD OF RELATIVES AT THE HOSPITALS

Pitiful Scenes Among Those Searching for Missing Members of Families.

POLICE AT HOMEOPATHIC

Crush Became So Great That Authorities Had to Ask for Officers to Keep Crowd in Line—Tender Care of the Wounded.

The scenes enacted around the different hospitals in Pittsburgh all day yesterday were heartrending. After the series of explosions at the Sheraden yards Monday night a majority of the victims were brought to the city and the hospitals were overcrowded.

All night the physicians and hospital officials and employes worked with the victims in the hope of saving all the lives possible. Extra forces were provided in several of the institutions and the work of caring for the wounded in the most tender manner was continued all of yesterday.

Extra physicians from all parts of the city were summoned by the residents and superintendents of the various hospitals and many of the best doctors of Pittsburgh spent hours of their time at the hospitals during the day.

Each hospital added to its corps of nurses early in the day and those who had been on duty the greater part of the night worked faithfully until noon yesterday without any sleep. The relief nurses took charge about noon.

Crowds of Visitors.

Never in the history of these institutions of Pittsburgh were so many visitors at the hospitals. The people began to come before daylight yesterday morning. Homes where missing relatives or friends had not reported furnished hundreds of hospital visitors, as many as five members of one family being found making the rounds of Pittsburgh, Allegheny and McKees Rocks hospitals at an early hour yesterday morning.

The visiting hours at the hospitals are from 2 until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Long before that time there was a large waiting list around the doors of each institution, and when the doors were finally opened for admission a crush resulted in several places.

The office employes of the different hospitals put in the busiest day of their connection with the institutions yesterday, and they were compelled to remain on duty until late last night. Even after 4 o'clock hundreds of persons sought admission to the hospitals, and when they were turned away many were in tears.

Strong men and boys came asking for traces of brother, father, uncle or some other relative who had been missing since the time of the explosion. Women with babes in arms were not an infrequent sight around the different places where the injured were being cared for.

Possibly the most exciting incident of the day occurred at the Homeopathic hospital shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The authorities had refused to admit any visitors during the morning, although hundreds applied.

Crush at Homeopathic.

When the doors were thrown open to visitors at 2 o'clock people scrambled over each other, each one being eager to be the first admitted. No person was seriously hurt in the crush, but several are reported to have been knocked down.

The office of Supt. P. K. Bechtel was filled in a minute after the doors were opened and it required all the reserve force of the hospital to keep the people in line. The hall benches were all occupied and it was necessary to close the doors of the hospital for a few moments until the wants of the persons already on the inside could be attended to.

The patients at the Homeopathic hospital were all placed in ward A, which is the main downstairs ward of the institution. Visitors were admitted to this ward, immediately behind the elevator. When the persons sitting in the hall saw others going into the ward they also walked in and the nurses on guard could not stop the steady stream of visitors.

Supt. Bechtel left his office and after some little time the ward was cleared, and the superintendent was compelled to send to Central station for a policeman to keep guard on the ward and see that no persons were admitted unless they had orders from the superintendent's office.

Relatives Searching.

It is estimated that between 300 and 400 people visited the hospital during the afternoon. All were searching for friends and relatives, and when it was learned that many of them were not at the institution the disappointment was pitiful.

In ward A at the Homeopathic 14 of the unfortunate ones were lying on white iron beds. Every face was swathed in cotton, the arms, legs and backs of all the victims were bandaged and the features of every man and boy in the ward were unrecognizable.

The scene in the ward was a sorrowful, pitiful, sickening one. The victims were moaning incessantly and it seemed that the harder the nurses and physicians worked the less they could do to alleviate the pain.

Some of the victims were conscious, others were not, and it was the hardest kind of work in many cases for the doctors to dress the wounds.

Besides having to handle the great throngs of visitors yesterday the hospital employes were kept busy answering the telephones, which were ringing continually from morning until night.

Nearly all the city hospitals are crowded to the doors with patients. At this season there are always a number of medical cases and the terrible catastrophe at Sheraden furnished additional cases.

Tender Care for Injured.

At the Mercy hospital the sisters and physicians worked with might and main to care for the injured and dying. As fast as life became extinct in the victims their friends or the morgue were notified.

A large number of cots was placed in formerly unoccupied rooms of the institution and in the halls, and the convalescent patients all wanted to give up their beds to the unfortunate victims. So busy were the nurses and attendants caring for the victims that they did not take time to gather the residences and ages of the unfortunates.

When the wounds of the patients in the hospitals were dressed the physicians were summoned to their rooms, where there sat in waiting men and boys who had been brought to the hospitals on Monday night but were able to go to their homes after their wounds had been dressed. These persons returned to the institution to have their wounds dressed.

At the West Penn and Allegheny General hospitals visitors came all day by the hundreds. At the South Side hospital a number of the victims were left and several more were brought in yesterday afternoon. Over half of the number at this institution cannot recover.

CAUGHT IN SHOWER OF FLAME
PLUCKY GAZETTE ARTIST STUCK TO WORK

The disaster at Sheraden furnished some notable examples of the pluck and daring of newspaper men in their devotion to duty. In the face of death the men who had been dispatched to the scene to get the news of the catastrophe continued unremittingly in their work and several, by their sacrifice, were added to the long list of victims.

When the first intelligence of the explosion of the naphtha tanks reached the city reporters and artists were immediately hurried to Sheraden and before twilight every available man on the staff of The Gazette was at work on the story. Morgan Morgan, one of the assignment artists from The Gazette illustrating department, was among the first to reach the scene of the disaster. While the tanks of naphtha were burning he stood close to the railroad tracks in order to secure a point of vantage for his view of the wreck. While busy making his sketch he was caught in the shower of blazing fluid that rained on the hillside after the second explosion.

Mr. Morgan was severely burned about his face, neck and hands, but saved his drawing materials, and, taking refuge outside of the zone of fire, completed his sketch. Unmindful of the agony caused by his blistered flesh the artist returned to the office to finish his sketch in paint. In his enthusiasm to give his picture to the engravers in time for the early editions of The Gazette Mr. Morgan struggled on, payinz little heed to the pain from his wounds. When the fingers of his right hand became swollen and he could no longer hold his brush the plucky artist baffled the awkward inconvenience of using his left by sheer persistence and long before midnight was rewarded by seeing his task completed and then took time to have his injuries dressed. His view of the scene appeared on the first page of The Gazette, and in spite of the difficulties that beset its making it was perhaps the best drawing of the wreck that has been made.

Mr. Morgan yesterday was unable to leave his room and will probably be confined indoors for several days.

GLOOM HANGS OVER SCENE OF DISASTER

SHATTERED HOUSES IN ESPLEN DESERTED BY OCCUPANTS.

The Arion Club Had a Watchman Guarding Wreck of Gambling Devices. One of the Wounded Succumbed to Injuries—Damage Is $60,000.

At Corks run yesterday a heavy laden haze hung over the scene of the disaster of the previous evening and the drizzling rain added much to the desolation of the 20 or more homes which had been wrecked by the explosion at the mouth of the Corks run sewer. The damage will reach $60,000.

The sewer empties into a hollow about 100 yards from the Ohio river and on the south side of River avenue, where there is a bridge over which the traction cars pass. On the eastern side there is a rather high bank just below the Arion club gambling house, and when the explosion occurred the full force of the gas was reflected to the western side, completely wrecking the Seymour House, which now lies a distorted mass in the gully, the concussion breaking almost all the glass and doing more or less damage to the 10 houses in the same line.

Several dwellings on the hill, far above River avenue, were also damaged, and the boarded-up windows and doors, as in the homes below, gave ample evidence of the terrible force of the explosion. On the eastern side the gambling house and four other houses were badly wrecked, but the gambling joint is the greatest sufferer.

Guard Over Joint.

It was closed yesterday and a guard with a big cane sat in a chair on the veranda, alone in his guardianship of the wrecked tickers, pool tables, blackboards and other paraphernalia. The ticker was silenced and the green baize tables were deserted. The curious sightseers peered at the house with much interest, but the guardian seemed oblivious to the sudden publicity which had come to the place.

The trolley lines took hundreds of visitors to the place during the day, but the former occupants of the damaged dwellings escaped the crowds by finding refuge in other houses in the neighborhood. They all vacated their homes after the explosion, fearing that a collapse might follow.

Mrs. Bridget Seymour is said to have lost $15,000 by the damage done to her home. John Collins, who occupied the two-story house adjoining, which was crushed on one side and twisted on its foundations, places his loss at $6,000. The house of John Blaney was also among those badly damaged and the loss is estimated at $2,000 from having the side torn out and all the glass broken.

Other Homes Wrecked.

Among the other properties damaged are those of Henry Hubbard, engineer of the Oil Well Supply Company, $700; Robert Sauers, $500; George Frazier, $700; John Brown, $200; Paul Scully, $250; James Scobie, $250; Charles Duvall, $300; George Stewart, $200; Joseph Fitzgerald, $350; Thomas Green, $200, and Mrs. Hill, $200.

All the houses were built of frame. The Arion club house is damaged to the extent of about $8,000. It is owned by Mrs. Mary Townsend, who lives in the rear of the premises, and her own dwelling was damaged to the extent of $3,000.

When the explosion occurred the Arion club was crowded with the usual afternoon visitors, and the games of chance were in full blast. In the excitement which followed immediately upon the crashing of timbers and the rocking of the house, the money on the tables and in the cash drawers was forgotten for a time, and when search was made for it it was discovered that some one had made away with it all, amounting to over $3,000.

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR SPECTATORS' BURNS

Railroad Counsel Doubts Whether the Company Can Be Held Legally to Blame.

"The big disaster at Sheraden was the main topic of conversation yesterday at the general offices of the Pennsylvania lines west in the Union station building. Officials of the company did not hesitate to speak of it although they said that the work of caring for the injured and for the company's interests was being done entirely under the direction of Supt. McCarty and as yet no full reports had been received.

J. J. Turner, third vice president of the lines west, said: "It seems that the accounts given in the newspapers of the origin of the explosion are the correct ones. Such an occurrence is quite unforeseeable and might happen at any time or never happen again. I have never known of an exactly similar case in my railroad experience. Every effort is being made and will be made to see that all the unfortunates are properly cared for."

L. L. Gilbert, assistant counsel of the Pennsylvania lines, was asked if there were any statutes of Pennsylvania regard the transportation of oil in tank cars.

"That question is being investigated today by our department," he said. "I knew that such laws exist in Ohio, but I do not know of them in Pennsylvania. The company, of course, takes all the care its experience can suggest to make the transportation of such materials as safe as possible.

"As to providing for those hurt, I doubt the legal rights of the spectators to claim damages, although I do not say that the company will not help poor people who have been hurt in this occurrence. The great majority seem to have been spectators and not on the company's property at all."

GAS MAIN IS SAFE.

Philadelphia Company Officials Say Thrre Is No Danger at Sheraden.

Asked yesterday about the liability of an explosion of gas from the mains of the Philadelphia Company, underlying the ground where the fire at Sheraden raged, General Manager Joseph F. Guffey said:

"We have no 36-inch main there, as reported. We have a 16-inch low pressure line, and it is six feet underground where fire cannot reach it. We had men at the scene of the disaster all last night. They were stationed at gates, instructed to turn off the gas in case a leak developed. There is a gate on each side of the Panhandle tracks, and the gas could have been turned off the instant a leak was shown. We put a recording gauge on the line to detect any leakage. Leaks are shown by a fall or decrease of pressure. Had the gauge recorded such a decrease the gas would have been turned off instantly before any damage could be done.

"While the line is six feet underground we took steps to prevent any contraction of the iron should the heat reach it by increasing the pressure or putting more gas into it. The temperature of gas is 48 to 50 degrees, and by increasing the pressure we kept the pipe cool. We haven't had any explosions from gas, and there isn't the slightest danger of any."

HEROIC WOMEN READY WITH HELP FOR SUFFERING

Quick Response of Tender Hands for Those Who Were in Torture.

PILES OF LINT MADE

All Day Yesterday the Housewives and Daughters of Sheraden Were Busy Consoling Those Who Had Lost Loved Ones.

The women of Sheraden have been merciful ministers of healing and consolation to the sufferers from the naphtha disaster Monday evening. From the first moment of the explosion they dropped all household and social duties and have given their devoted attention to the victims and their sorrowing families.

No Red Cross army could have responded more quickly and promptly than did the women and girls of the little borough when the report of the explosion had died away and the harrowing scenes of distress revealed themselves. The few who hurried to the place of the disaster saw the immediate need of the surgeons and nurses, and, hurrying home, they set to work and prepared lint and bandages in such generous quantities that before the physicians and surgeons had arrived at the freight yards or on the hillside, where the greater number of the emergency cases were cared for, great baskets filled with household remedies and bandages were already on the spot and greatly facilitated the immediate treatment of the physicians.

Relief on Hand Promptly.

The baskets filled with the snowy linen, which quick fingers had torn into strips, sewed together and neatly rolled when the word of the disaster was received, were carried from place to place on the hillside, where the supply grew short, the women and girls passing between the victims, some of whom had already been prepared for the journey to the hospitals in Pittsburgh and others whose moans of anguish told of suffering beyond the endurance of strong men and women. Others there were whose blackened bodies showed that death had claimed them before any earthly relief could come. These gentle-faced women and tender-hearted girls showed their heroism as they ministered to the suffering that lay about them.

Others assisted the surgeons in bandaging burned and bruised limbs, their cool, gentle fingers alleviating in a slight degree the terrible suffering which was the lot of so many. As night fell the glimmer of the lanterns showed the quiet ministering presence of the doctors and their devoted assistants, who would not leave the place until everything possible was done for the sufferers, who were taken to the hospitals or to their homes.

The presence of women at the scene of the disaster was continual. The majority of the first to arrive were mothers who were frantic in their search for children who had not returned from school. The victims most seriously burned claimed the attention of nearly all of the local physicians on the scene and when the whole fearful result became apparent the doctors' offices were filled with those who could walk and the physicians could not leave the patients beside them to hasten to the hillside, where death had cut down its victims with such a ruthless hand.

Telephones were unavailing and messengers were dispatched on horseback and in whatever conveyance happened to be at hand to Crafton, Ingram and Carnegie, who, returning without loss of time, found the efficient women of Sheraden ready to assist with their supplies hastily prepared.

The nine gallons of linseed oil that constituted the entire supply of the local drug store was soon exhausted, all the paint shops of the borough were visited and several more gallons of the oil were procured, while messengers were dispatched to the West End and to the city to meet the growing emergency.

Another Sorrowful Day.

Yesterday the same heart-whole devotion to the needs of the sorrowing families in the stricken community was shown by the women whose lot in life lay in pleasanter places. All day long gentle visitors went from house to house, soothing those whose physical sufferings were great and carrying comfort and consolation to those houses at whose door hung the badge of death.

As early as 8 o'clock yesterday morning the Rev. W. B. Slease, pastor of the Sheraden Methodist Episcopal church, and his wife were visiting those of their parishioners whom the disaster of the previous night touched most nearly. Not alone to the members of their own congregation were they ministering, for their sympathy and care was extended to all who suffered.

One of the saddest families in Sheraden today is the Wilson family in Pennsylvania avenue. The two sons, George and Thomas, are the victims of the accident. George Wilson, who was 14 years of age, was apparently unhurt and suffering only from the shock, but died at the Homeopathic hospital at 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Thomas, who was 17, will also die as a result of burns received in the explosion.

FORCE FELT IN ALLEGHENY.

Several Persons Injured and a Number of Homes Badly Damaged.

In that portion of Allegheny opposite Corks run the force of the explosion was felt severely. Mrs. J. S. Sanders, No. 1210 Beaver avenue, was at work in her kitchen when the third explosion occurred and she was knocked down. The windows were broken and the plaster knocked off the walls and ceiling.

The homes of Mrs. Hasting, No. 1712 Market street, and Mrs. R. M. Cochran, No. 1709 Juniata street, were also damaged by the concussion. John Hanley of No. 6 Atlantic street, Allegheny, while standing on the banks of the river at the foot of Juniata street, was struck on the head by a piece of iron from the oil cars. His head was badly hurt, but not seriously.

Haney Donley of Preble avenue, while standing on the bank of Juniata street, was struck on the head by a small piece of iron, but he was not badly hurt.

The residence of Mrs. M. Hackett, No. 100 Beaver avenue, was shaken, the plaster knocked from the wall and the windows broken. Some of the furniture was damaged. Her loss is about $200. The power house of the Pittsburgh Railways Company at the foot of Juniata street was damaged; the windows were broken and small pieces of iron fell on the roof.

CHANCE FOR RATHBONE.

Cuban Law to Be Altered to Give Him Right of Appeal.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.—The president has directed Secretary Root to confer upon the Cuban court of appeals jurisdiction to review the case of Maj. Rathbone and take additional testimony.

The method by which the president proposes that Rathbone shall be given another chance to prove his innocence is developed in a message by Secretary Root to Gen. Wood. There is not, under Cuban law, any means of taking an appeal to a supreme court in cases where there has been an error in procedure. Appeals can be taken only where there have been errors of law. To make it possible to relieve Rathbone's case, therefore, Gen. Wood has been ordered to promulgate a special modification of existing law, which, by the way, will fit the cases of any other persons under arrest under conditions similar to those of Rathbone. By promulgating this law before the Cubans assume their own administration, Gen. Wood will cause it to become the law of the land, under that section of the Platt amendment which continues in force the laws as they are left by the American military administration.

Bargains in Grand Pianos Surprise Sale at Hamilton's

It is very seldom that an opportunity is offered to buy new and used grand pianos of the better grades at bargain prices.

But Hamilton's are offering such an opportunity, and the names of the instruments included in the special sale, which is now going on at this store, indicate that the demand will exceed the supply.

Among the instruments included in this offer are the following makes: A. B. Chase, Fischer, Hazelton, Chickering, McPhail and others.

Prices range from $275 up.

The cases are in mahogany, oak, ebony and rosewood and are conspicuously beautiful.

There are some good uprights also from $135 up.

But the thing that distinguishes Hamilton's music store from most establishments of the kind is that the word "bargain" is never mentioned here unless there is some exceptionally good reason for its use. The goods must always be meritorious and the prices much below regular in order to gain the distinction of bargain at this enterprising music house. Hence customers always know that there is something extraordinary going on when a special sale is announced at Hamilton's.

And of all the sales in recent years at this old house none included a greater number of desirable pianos than in the present instance.

Come before it is too late.

If you are familiar with the usual cost of grand pianos you know that $275 is an exceptionally low price.

ELKIN MEN PLAN TO TIE UP SENATOR QUAY BY INSTRUCTIONS

Movement in Beaver County to Secure Adverse Control of Committee.

SENATOR BLOCKS GAME

He Takes Personal Charge of the Fight—Rejects a Compromise Offer—Warm Contest for the Nominations for Assemblymen.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Beaver, Pa., May 13.—Effort is being made to tie the hands of Senator Quay and force him and the other delegates from Beaver to vote for Elkin for governor. The plan is to obtain control of the new county committee and have it instruct for the attorney general.

James H. Cunningham, who is a candidate for congress against Congressman Acheson, is said to be behind the movement. Cunningham denies that he is doing the plotting, but the opposition insists that he has a hand in the game. It is contended that, in addition to instructing for Elkin, the committee, if Cunningham is in control, will throw out the votes cast for Acheson.

Senator Quay is not afraid of receiving Elkin instructions and the other side is satisfied that the chances of success are not so hopeful as they were a few days ago. When Quay heard of the scheme he telegraphed the district leaders that he would come to Beaver and would be pleased to confer with them. As a result his house has been crowded and a committee friendly to Quay will be elected.

Quay Refused a Compromise.

There are five committeemen in this borough. Monday a delegation of Cunningham workers called upon Quay. They said that he could have three of the votes and they would take the other two. The senator told them that he intended to fight to a finish and would make every effort to get the entire five. Cunningham has usually controlled these committeemen.

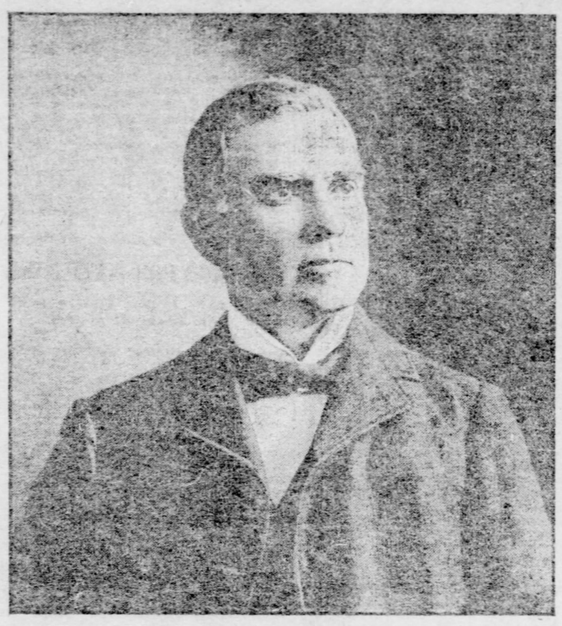
The primaries will be held Thursday and the new county committee will met the following morning at 10 o'clock to organize and canvass the vote. There are 169 members of the committee, and it will be necessary for the opposition to Quay to get 85 to control. Friends of the senator are candidates in every district and Quay is in charge of the fight. It was said tonight that he had the contest well in hand, and is certain of a big majority in the meeting Friday.

Senator Quay, Thomas Jobe and Dr. J. M. May are the candidates for state delegates. They have no opposition, and it is the intention to allow them to go to the convention uninstructed. Jobe and May will follow the leadership of Quay. It would have been impossible to have made a successful fight for delegates against the Quay slate, so the quiet attempt at capturing the county committee was agreed upon.

Mansfield Wrote Too Late.

Chairman Louthan of the present county committee is in Europe. Just before going he refused to accept the announcement fee of Acheson and the congressman had to appear in court to get his name on the ticket. Cunningham has refused to abide by the agreement made by the Republican committees of Washington and Lawrence as to the method of nominating a congressman. He succeeded in having the Beaver committee refuse to ratify the work of the conference. The friends of Acheson say that if Cunningham controls the meeting Friday the votes cast for Acheson will not be counted.

The senator is also taking an active part in the nomination of two assemblymen. He has declared for Representative T. L. Kennedy of New Brighton and John T. Taylor of Monaca. The third man in the race is ex-Representative Ira F. Mansfield of Beaver. Until a day or two ago he steadfastly refused to agree to go into the senatorial caucus and support the re-election of United States Senator Penrose. Quay decided to center on Kennedy and Taylor. This brought Mansfield around, and he wrote the senator a letter pledging himself to Penrose. The promise came too late and Mansfield is not on the slate.



HON. T. L. KENNEDY
of New Brighton, Who Will Probably Be Re-Elected to the Legislature.

DELEGATES SEE PROMPT ACTION IS NECESSARY

WILL BE TOO LATE IN JUNE

Stone Angers Congressman Hopkins of Clinton and He Resigns from a State Commission—Elkin Gets Armstrong and Forest Delegates.

Allegheny county's slated delegates to the state convention are beginning to realize that they must act promptly if they wish to get into the winning camp in time to count. It is possible that within a few days there will be a declaration from some of them. An indorsement of Pennypacker would not be surprising.

The published statement that Recorder Brown has a signed pledge from each of the delegates to agree to the unit rule is not correct. There are 36 delegates in the county, 15 being outside the two cities. It is these men who are most likely not to be bound to abide by Brown's leadership. Had they signed the pledge it might have been possible for the recorder-chairman to have handled the entire delegation.

The great strides being made by Pennypacker have caused a number of local delegates to become anxious to get in with the winning side. At the rate the Philadelphian is gathering votes the fight will be at an end in a few days. If Allegheny remains out until the convention meets it will get no credit for assisting in the nomination.

Elkin Ruled Out in Erie.

The Erie primaries, as well as those in Crawford, will be held Saturday. The former elects six and the latter four delegates. After the time for announcing had expired in Erie it is said the friends of Elkin tried to get his name on the ticket, believing that if he polled a large vote the support of the county would go to him. According to report an announcement fee of $5,000 was offered by some one, but the money was refused, as the rules could not be broken. The delegates from there will follow the leadership of Quay. Most of the leaders in the county were among the original protestors against the nomination of Elkin because they believed him to be a weak candidate this year.

The four votes from Crawford will also be anti-Elkin. The friends of W. R. Andrews are endeavoring to capture these delegates. An organization has been formed to assist Andrews. The plan is to send a petition into every voting precinct. The Republicans will be asked to sign the paper, setting forth that Andrews is their choice for governor. The petition will be used at Harrisburg. Andrews is private secretary to Senator Penrose and a brother of William H. Andrews of Allegheny, who hopes to be elected a United States senator from New Mexico.

Stone Working Hard for Elkin.

The report that effort is being made to induce Gov. Stone to declare for Pennypacker is causing general amusement. The Philadelphia judge would probably not care for an indorsement from the postscript man. Stone is extremely eager to assist Elkin to secure the nomination. He is so industrious that he is even said to be quarreling with old friends.

Clinton county elected two uninstructed delegates. Ex-Congressman A. C. Hopkins of Lock Haven is the leader of the county. He is also a member of the state forestry commission. The other day Stone is said to have telephoned Hopkins that he wanted the two delegates for Elkin. The ex-congressman refused to deliver. He informed the governor that the sentiment of the county was against the nomination of Elkin. Just what else happened is not known, but it is known that Hopkins has forwarded his resignation as a member of the forestry commission. At the department in Harrisburg it is given out that Hopkins resigned on account of ill health. The friends of Elkin have been claiming for two weeks that the two votes from Clinton could be counted upon for the Stone candidate.

Elkin Gets Some Delegates.

Kittanning Republicans were yesterday treated to the spectacle of a candidate for governor appearing before a county committee in his own interest. John P. Elkin made a speech in which he said that he intended to remain in the field to a finish. H. H. Carnahan of Apollo offered a resolution to instruct the three Armstrong delegates for Elkin. The motion was adopted. Elkin has many personal friends in Armstrong. I. T. Campbell was re-elected county chairman.

At Tionesta yesterday afternoon the Forest county Republicans elected G. W. Osgood delegate to the state convention. He was instructed to support Elkin. This is one of the counties ex-Senator James G. Mitchell, Elkin's field manager, is said to have visited.

Gov. Stone has been fishing in Somerset and Cambria counties for several days. Besides angling for trout, it is probable that an attempt was made to hook the Somerset delegates for Elkin. It is not probable that he was successful.

J. Denny O'Neil of McKeesport may be a candidate for state delegate. He is not on the slate and the organization will oppose him. He has also attempted to get others in the Eighth district to become candidates.

LABOR LEADERS ASK FOR DAMAGES

Arrest of Uriah Bellingham and William Little Leads to a Civil Suit.

Uriah Bellingham, vice president of the Pittsburgh district organization of the United Mine Workers of America, and William Little, member of the general executive board of the organization, yesterday filed suit in Washington, Pa., calling for damages amounting to $12,000 on the ground of alleged unlawful arrest in the new mining town of Ellsworth. The suit arises out of the circumstances of a trip of Bellingham and Little a month ago to the mining town, when they were arrested and ordered away by two of the coal and iron police of the Ellsworth Coal Company, Finch and Haise.

The civil suit names as defendants these special officers, the Ellsworth Coal Company and the superintendent of the company, William Miller. The bill presented in court mentions the allegations of unlawful arrest, indignities shown the plaintiffs and the alleged disregard of their right to enter the town.

Secretary-Treasurer William Dodds of the Pittsburgh miners announced yesterday that the Braeburn Steel Company, operating mines at Braeburn in the Allegheny valley field, has met the new wage agreement for which 2,000 men are on strike. He said that only about 12 of the miners at Blairsville are working, and about 20 near Tarentum, Hite and Creighton. The miners at the Penn salt works at Natrona, the miners' secretary announced, are working at the advanced wage rate, but have no agreement, this being the result of the miners' demands.

President Patrick Dolan addressed a mass-meeting of miners at Blairsville last night. Vice President Uriah Bellingham addressed a meeting at Natrona and William Little, member of the national executive board of the miners, addressed the men at Avonmore yesterday afternoon and also the Blairsville meeting at night.

NEBRASKA HAS A SCARE.

Scientists Say Alleged Volcano Is Caused by Water Seeping Into Limestone.

OMAHA, NEB., May 13.—According to dispatches from Pender, Mt. Iona, Neb., a miniature volcano has been for two days sending up smoke and steam. The volcano is situated on the Missouri river in Cedar county, about 150 miles above Omaha, and has been practically dead for 50 years. Reports say that all the settlers in the immediate neighborhood are preparing to move.

Geologists have said the smoke is caused by water from the Missouri river seeping into the limestone rock formation of the mountain, but the people are fearful of an eruption.

PRESIDENT SCHWAB VISITS NEARBY TOWNS

Extensive Improvements Expected at Mills of the Steel Corporation.

NEW CASTLE, PA., May 13.—President Charles M. Schwab and other officials of the United States Steel Corporation passed through here this morning to Sharon, and this afternoon returned to inspect the local plants. On account of unexpected delays Mr. Schwab had not time to visit the tin mills.

He practically admitted that New Castle is to have one more furnace, to be the same size as the new 200-ton McKinley stack.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 13.—As a result of the visit of President C. M. Schwab and other officials of the steel corporation to the city today there will be improvements made at the Ohio plant and the American Steel Hoop plant. The improvements at the Ohio plant will cost $1,500,000. They include a new blast furnace.

SHARON, PA., May 13.—Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, and other officials of this steel corporation, inspected the mills of the latter concern today. While no direct information was given out it was intimated by several of the officers that upward of $50,000,000 will be expended in the two valleys in improvements to the constituent properties.

TO TALK OF HOSPITAL.

Episcopal Clergymen Will Discuss Question of Opening St. Margaret Memorial Institution.

There promises to be a lively discussion when the question of opening St. Margaret Memorial hospital is brought before the 37th annual convention of the Pittsburgh diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church in Emanuel church, Allegheny this morning. It is said that many of the clergy and the laity favor the opening of the hospital at once, although the trustees say that it cannot be successfully conducted under $40,000 a year. The meeting today will be presided over by Bishop Whitehead and 400 members are expected to be present. The session will last two days.

The Rev. T. S. Cartwright, rector of the church at New Haven, who before entering the ministry was a newspaper man and at one time an editor of the New York Times, was seen at the Hotel Henry last night. "I think the convention will be very interesting," he remarked, "as I understand an attempt will be made to open the St. Margaret hospital. The trustees say that the hospital cannot be successfully conducted under the terms of the will of John H. Shoenberger, but many of the clergy and laity do not agree with them." The Rev. Mr. Cartwright, beside his other duties, is editor of the Church Press.

The worst Coughs generally yield to Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant, and not a few estimable physicians endorse it as their best prescription.

PARTY CAPITAL ON PHILIPPINES NOT ONESIDED

Democrats Warned They Have Nothing to Gain from Attacks Upon the Army.

VOTE COMING IN A WEEK

Senator Stewart of Nevada Pronounces the Silver Issue Dead, for the Present, at Least—Debate Not Likely to Be Prolonged.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
603 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.

Indications today point to the possibility of a vote being reached on the Philippine bill in the senate within a week, although no definite agreement has been made. Republican leaders are making no attempt to drive the opposition to a vote, but are personally urging their colleagues on the other side of the chamber not to permit the consideration of the bill to assume the phase of a filibuster.

There is said to be an inclination on the part of some Democratic senators of prominence to end the debate in reasonable limits. It has become apparent in the past few days that the opportunities for making political capital out of the talk are not altogether on one side.

When the Philippine bill gets out of the way attention will be directed to the Cuban reciprocity bill. The absence of members of the committee on Cuban affairs has prevented consideration of the bill in committee, but it can be reported on short notice.

In the debate today Mr. Stewart of Nevada, in supporting the Philippine bill, warned the minority that no political gain would accrue to them from their attack on the army. The American people, he said, always had supported the army, and always would.

While discussing the proposed coinage of the silver dollar for the Philippines Mr. Stewart declared that the silver question in this country is dead, at least for the present, on account of the large output of gold.

THREE BRADDOCK MEN VICTIMS OF SEWER GAS

Philip Esches Probably Fatally Injured Last Night—Two Others Also Suffered.

Three men were overcome by sewer gas about 7:30 o'clock last night at Braddock. One of the men will probably die. The injured are:

PHILLIP ESCHES, aged 28, son of the late John Esches of Washington avenue; will probably die.

MICHAEL MASCHIK, seriously injured.

ANDREW GIBLOSKI, aged 30, not serious.

Yesterday evening Esches noticed that the drain pipes from the hotel formerly owned by his father, and now run by Benjamin Shumm, were not working right. He went into the alley, lifted the sewer lid and went down to examine the pipes. As he did not return Michael Maschik, an employe, followed him and was also overcome by the gas.

By this time several others had gathered and Andrew Gibloski went down to rescue the men. Andrew Bilok, a bartender, procured ropes and dropped them to the hole to the men. Gibloski tied a rope about Esches and had him hoisted to the surface. Another rope was dropped and Maschik was brought to the surface, and finally Gibloski.

Esches was attended by Dr. A. J. Kohrman, who gives but slight hope of his recovery. At midnight he was still living. The other men will recover. Esches is one of the most prominent young men of Braddock. His father died about two months ago, leaving a fortune, to which the son was one of the principal heirs.

People Flock to Mellor's for the Numerous Piano Bargains

It was expected that there would be a prompt response to Mellor's advertisement of a special sale of pianos on account of the building operations of the Farmers Deposit National Bank next door, but no one anticipated such a lively demand as has resulted.

The fact is this is a "forced" sale.

The workmen are now engaged in excavating for the foundations of the Farmers Deposit Bank and are encroaching on the Mellor property, necessitating the immediate sale of all surplus instruments. All goods in the basement must be sold. And they will be sold at such reduced prices as will cause this sale to be remembered for many months to come.

First in importance is the high character of the instruments involved.

The list is notable by reason of the fact that it comprises the world's most famous pianos—Steinway, Krakauer, Sterling, Ludwig, Cameron, Cambridge, Chickering and a half dozen others.

No need to commend the character of these pianos. No need to say that they are attracting the best class of music lovers. For self interest actuates everyone in need of a piano to come here and buy it during the present sale.

Although no detailed price list is given in this advertisement, it is sufficient to remark that prices are more attractive than ever before known at a special sale.

Second-Hand Square Pianos from $25 up
Second-Hand Uprights from $75 up
Shop-worn Pianos from $135 up
Specimen Pianos from $165 up
Brand New Pianos from $175 up

There are shop-worn pianos, pianos that have been rented, pianos in storage, specimen pianos sent for examination, etc.

It is of the utmost importance that you attend this sale if you have any thought of buying a musical instrument. And that means to come without delay.

Mellor's have had many memorable sales in the past, but never any that compared with this one.

NO MORE MONEY FOR RESERVOIR

CONTROLLER LARKIN MAKES A DECISIVE STATEMENT.

On Being Notified by the Contractors That City Inspectors Will Not Be Allowed on the Work He Promptly Decides to Shut Off the Pay.

All negotiations between Controller John B. Larkin, the Mercantile Trust Company and Keeling & Ridge are off. Patrick Ridge of the latter firm has served notice on Charles Finley, the controller's inspector, that he will not be allowed inside the contract lines at the reservoir. Controller Larkin says that settles it, and the contractors will not get any more money from the city.

Inspector Finley was to have made a trip to the reservoir yesterday, but did not do so, as he had been informed by Patrick Ridge that he would not be allowed to enter the reservoir. Finley was in to see Controller Larkin yesterday afternoon, and reported the situation to him.

Controller Larkin then said: "If the contractors are satisfied with the situation I am. I acted within my rights in appointing a representative to inspect the contract, and if they do not see fit to allow that inspection to be made I cannot help that. It will necessitate, however, their going along without any money, for I shall not pay out any money under the present condition of affairs. The matter will be up to me when another estimate comes in."

The controller has not as yet received any answer to his communication which he sent to the Mercantile Trust Company notifying them of the action of the watchman at the reservoir in refusing to allow Mr. Finley to inspect the work. It is probable that the officials of the trust company will smooth the ruffled plumage of their contractors and that the wish of Mr. Larkin that his representative shall inspect the work will be complied with.

Controller Larkin yesterday received a letter from Director A. H. Leslie of the department of public safety noting the receipt of the controller's letter concerning the garbage contract, and saying that the complaints made would be given attention. If the complaints are given attention, the controller says, he will honor the warrants in favor of the company. If not, no more money will be paid out on the contract.

Notwithstanding the silence of Recorder J. O. Brown and Director J. Guy McCandless with reference to filtration work, it has been learned that no attention is being paid to the controller's order, and that the expensive force of men is still at work. "I cannot help that," said the controller when he learned the circumstance. "If these philanthropic employes want to work for nothing I have no objections. I am certain of one important point, and that is that they will not get any money from the city."

ON THE WAY TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

A Party of Clergymen, Including President J. D. Moffatt, Left for New York Last Night.

The Rev. Dr. James D. Moffat, president of Washington and Jefferson college, accompanied by the Rev. Dr. J. H. Snowden of the Second Presbyterian church, Washington, Pa.; the Rev. John A. Marquis of Greensburg, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Mojunkin of Oakdale, the Rev. William Miller of Crafton and Attorney James I. Brownson of Washington, Pa., went to New York last night over the Pennsylvania railroad to attend the annual general assembly of the Presbyterian church. The assembly will be held in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church in that city and will open at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. It is expected that the session will last 10 days.

The session promises to be one of the most important held by the general assembly of the church for 10 years. It is expected that the committee appointed on the revision of the Confession of Faith will make its report to this assembly and that a lively debate will result.

The general assembly will also elect its moderator during the session, and after the reading of the minutes the election of a moderator will take place. Dr. Moffat said last night he thought it would not consume much of the time of the assembly in the selection of a moderator this year.

SCHWAB BUYS RICHMOND BEACH FOR NEW CHARITY

Will Place Summer Resort at Disposal of Persons of His Own Choosing.

CLOSED TO THE PUBLIC

President of Steel Corporation Will Improve His Newly Acquired Property—Undertaking Will Be on Tremendous Scale.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, May 13.—Richmond Beach, a large tract of land at Hugenot, Staten Island, has been purchased by Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, who purposes to establish there a charity along unique lines. The beneficiaries will be selected by Mr. Schwab personally, and extensive improvements are planned for the beautiful resort he has acquired.

Oliver Wren, Mr. Schwab's private secretary, said today:

"The undertaking will be upon a tremendous scale. It will not be a public charity, but the idea is that Mr. Schwab will give to such people as he will select, the benefits of this beautiful summer resort. A large sum of money will be expended at once in improving the buildings and grounds and it is expected that no great time will elapse before the institution will be ready for use.

"The sum of money involved in the charitable scheme will be of an amount proportionate to Mr. Schwab's way of doing things. The resort has now been closed to the public."

Mr. Wren declined to make public at present any further details of Mr. Schwab's plans. From the office of the Richmond Beach and Railway Company, No. 35 Wall street, today was issued this notice:

"The Richmond Beach and Railway Company, having sold to Mr. Charles M. Schwab of No. 71 Broadway its property near Hugenot, Staten Island, known as Richmond Beach, the same will no longer be conducted as a public resort."

To celebrate the 96th anniversary of the New York Orphan asylum exercises were held today in its home at Seventy-third street and Riverside drive. Its inmates sang and gave recitations and the Rev. Robert Russell Booth delivered an address.

Rudolph Reeder, superintendent of the asylum, announced that the institution would leave its present home, which it has occupied since 1836, the first of next month and move into its new buildings at Hastings-on-the-Hudson. The property of the asylum in Riverside drive was sold about nine months ago to Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, but ground had already been broken at that time for the new home of the institution.

Located so that it commands a fine view of the Palisades, the site comprises more than 40 acres and extends from the Hudson river to Broadway. The administration building is two stories in height and its dimensions are 185x65 feet. It is constructed of brick with stone trimmings. In it are the school, industrial training, cooking and sewing class rooms. It also contains an assembly and trustees' rooms and the superintendent's office.

Eight cottages for the children have been built. They are two stories high, with ten rooms in each, and each will contain about 25 inmates, in charge of a matron or "mother." They were built with a view to enabling the children to enjoy something like home life.

Mental unrest is a sure sign of physical disease; often of ailments beyond the reach of ordinary remedies. Dr. D. Jayne's Tonic Vermifuge restores the debilitated organs, and healthy action brings strength.

RESTORED BY PE-RU-NA

To Health and Usefulness Were These Two Grateful Women.

Mrs. Augusta Boettcher, 3042 Emerald avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"From youth I was troubled with leucorrhoea, which grew worse, and as a result of hard work, I contracted a stubborn case of inflammation of the womb. I tried several doctors but got no better. Upon the advice of friends I began the use of Peruna. I took nine bottles of this far-famed medicine, Peruna, and after many fruitless endeavors have finally regained my health. I can recommend Peruna to every person."

MRS. AUGUSTA BOETTCHER.

Mrs. John Kahring, Glidden, Wis., writes:

"I thank Dr. Hartman and Peruna, next to God, for my health, and whenever and wherever I have an opportunity I will recommend Peruna, and I shall never be without it in my house, for I know by experience that it is a good medicine, without which one should not be. I experience no pain as usual before menstruation, and feel a great change in my condition, as I can do my own housework. May God keep you for a long time to help suffering mankind." MRS. JOHN KAHRING.

Women are subject to pelvic catarrh.

This condition has been called all sorts of names and has been referred to under the genera phrase, female diseases.

Peruna cures these cases.

Peruna cures them because it cures catarrh wherever located.

The nature of most of these ailments is catarrhal.

Catarrh is liable to attack any organ of the body.

It is especially liable to attack one or more organs of the female pelvic.

No wonder women talk about Peruna.

No wonder they think it is the greatest medicine in the world.

Peruna cures the catarrh wherever located.

Peruna is not a guess nor an experiment — it is an absolute scientific certainty.

Peruna has no substitute—no rivals.

Insist upon having Peruna.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

FLOODED MINES WILL RESULT IF FIREMEN STRIKE

If Miners Indorse Their Demand for Shorter Day They Will Quit Work.

GATHERING OF DELEGATES

President Mitchell and His Associates Reach Hazleton—Probabilities Are That Convention Will Vote to Continue Strike.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Hazleton, Pa., May 13.—The suspension of work in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania may be terminated by the convention which meets here tomorrow.

The apparent overwhelming sentiment for a strike, which was in evidence yesterday, is not quite so prominent now. President Mitchell and his fellow officials maintain silence on the subject. The indications are, however, that the delegates favoring a strike are in the majority. The upper district is not a unit on the question of a permanent strike, but it is believed that the pro-strike delegates in the middle and lower district are numerous enough to overcome the anti-strike sentiment.

The stationary firemen propose to go out with the mine workers if the latter will indorse the firemen's demands for a shorter workday without a reduction in wages. Strike advocates think the miners should accept the proposition, which would result in the suspension of work by the engineers, firemen and pump runners, and this would cause the operators a large financial loss through the flooding of the mine workings.

The convention will meet at 10 a. m. tomorrow and will conduct its business behind closed doors. President Mitchell will preside and will acquaint the delegates with the situation.

The entire region is very quiet. The only colliery that was in operation today was the Dusky Diamond at Beaver Brook, near here. Only 10 men are employed there and they are receiving the wages asked for by the union. The colliery supplies only local trade.

National President Mitchell and District Presidents Nicholls and Fahy arrived here this evening from Scranton. President Mitchell stopped off at Freeland, nine miles north of here, and was given an enthusiastic reception. He made a brief speech in which he counseled the miners to act wisely. He said the majority in tomorrow's convention should rule, and if that majority was for a strike every worker in the region should respond to the call and stand out firmly to the end. If, however, the convention should decide otherwise, he continued, then the miners must stand by their union, for only through their organization could they hope to better their condition.

The convention may be in session for several days.

WILL NOT YIELD.

Delaware & Hudson Stockholders Indorse President Olyphant's Attitude Against Miners.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Delaware & Hudson stockholders had their annual meeting today and re-elected all the outgoing directors. President Olyphant made a brief address in which he said that no further concessions would be made to the miners. Louis Windmuller, chairman of the meeting, said:

"If we were to comply with all the demands of our employes we might just as well turn the property over to the strikers."

WATRES CLAIMS PRIMARY VICTORY

HIS SUPPORTERS POINT TO ELKIN BOLT AT WILKESBARRE.

Presiding Officer at Convention Accused of Highhandedness in Declaring Vote a Tie and Then Casting Deciding Vote. Pennypacker Plan of Campaign.

BY CHESTER D. POTTER.
Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., May 13.—Col. L. A. Watres conferred with friends here today. Several Republican leaders from interior counties met him by appointment. The colonel still expresses the belief that he will be the nominee.

He claims that he scored a victory at the Wilkesbarre primaries Saturday, such a result being shown by the action of the Elkin forces in bolting the convention last night. It is asserted by the Watres people that the vote stood 22 to 20 in their favor on the organization of the convention. City Chairman Hoover, an Elkin adherent, who was presiding, declared it a tie, cast the deciding vote, which he had no right to do, and decided that E. J. Williams, the Elkin candidate for chairman, elected. Then the lights went out, also 18 of the Elkin delegates, taking with them the ballot boxes from the three contested districts. Two of the Elkin delegates remained and voted with the 22 Watres delegates for Miner and Williams, the Watres candidates for state delegates.

The total vote polled at the primaries, not counting the three disputed districts, gives Miner and Williams, Watres candidates, 1,081 and 1,056 respectively; the Elkin candidates, Fell and Morgan, 862 and 761 respectively.

Gov. Stone's official family was represented at the primaries and convention by Sol Bacharach, messenger; Chief Roderick of the mines and mining department; Chief Factory Inspector Campbell and Assistant Inspector Davis; two clerks from Attorney General Elkin's office and two mine inspectors.

That the sentiment of Philadelphia business men is in favor of Judge Pennypacker is to be seen in the large number of responses received yesterday and today at the Pennypacker headquarters. Up to noon today, three days after the circular letters asking for indorsements had been issued, more than 1,000 responses had been received, nearly all of which were accompanied by personal letters indorsing the Philadelphia jurist.

The Citizens campaign committee, to be appointed from among those indorsing the movement, will be selected before the end of the week, after which the real effort to secure the nomination for the Philadelphia judge will be begun actively in every county of the state, both where delegates have been elected and instructed for other candidates, and in those counties where uninstructed delegates have been chosen and where primaries are to be held.

Failures to Extend Pool Limits

Interesting developments in the lower southwest fields have not been in evidence for the last few days. There is still an effort making to extend the producing lines to the south and southwest, but success has not attended the efforts of those who have backed their convictions with money.

The new Keener sand pool, near Jerusalem, in Monroe county, Ohio, has put the talent to guessing. So far as developed, the Unity Oil Company seems to be the whole thing in securing producing wells. West of this company's well on the E. J. Harper farm, the initial producer, a distance of 2,000 feet, Watt & Co. have drilled in a test well on the L. Null farm and have a duster in the Keener sand. With this well a failure, and the one completed on the Spencer McMullin farm by the Ohio Oil Company last week, the outlook for an extension to the west is any thing but encouraging. It looks now as if it will prove a narrow streak, running nearly north and south, and with the exception of the holdings of the Unity Company's 2,500 acres not likely to extend much beyond. At the present seven wells have been completed—four producers, one small well and two dusters. In the Lewisville district the Shawnut Oil Company has drilled its No. 5 on the Louis Ewig farm through both the Big Lima and other formations and has a duster.

In the Wolf creek district, in Morgan county, Church, Kritz & Co. have completed No. 3 on the Wilson heirs' farm and has a show for a 10-barrel producer. In the same district the test well on the John Rowland farm has been completed and is a duster.

Near Wilkins station, Washington county, Rapp & Co. have completed their test well on the Irwin farm and have a duster in the Cow Run sand.

In the Sand Hill district the American Oil Company has completed No. 17 on the J. Congleton farm and has a 20-barrel producer. The Alice Oil Company's No. 20 on the T. C. Scott farm is good for 10 barrels a day, and the New York & Marietta Oil Company's No. 13 on the Smith farm is a very light pumper.

In the Scottown district, the Carter Oil Company has drilled its test well on the Nancy Cline farm and found the Big Injun sand and found that formation barren. It is now drilling to the Berea Grit.

In the Boverston development in Harrison county, W. P. Black & Co. have completed a test well on the C. Huff farm and has an 8-barrel pumper.

In Tuscarawas, located one and one-half miles southwest of Philadelphia Roads, the same company has completed a second well on the E. West farm and has a show for a small pumper.

West Virginia.

On Buffalo run, Wetzel county, the Kanawha Oil Company has drilled its No. 94 on the John Mills tract through the Big Injun sand and has a duster in that formation. It is now drilling to the Gordon and stands a show for a producer.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the Federal Oil Company has completed its No. 5 on the Eli Connely farm and will not have better than a 5 or 10-barrel pumper. The South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 2 on the J. M. Pratt farm through the Gordon and will have a small pumper.

In the shallow sand territory in Wood county, the Henderson Oil Company has completed No. 7 on the C. P. Morrow farm and has a duster.

The Carter Oil Company's No. 16 on the J. L. Poe farm in Meade district, Tyler county, is holding up at 210 barrels a day.

In Geary district, near the mouth of Pigeon run on Big Sandy creek, Roane county, Grosscop and other Charleston parties have completed the rig for a test well on the Thompson farm. This district has been prospected for oil and gas in the past, but nothing materialized.

Local Notes.

In the Murdocksville extension near Burgettstown, Washington county, Pa., the Beaver Oil Company has drilled in its No. 2 on the Linn farm and has a show for a small pumper.

In the Speechley sand district in Butler county, the Southern Oil Company has completed a test well in the Fleeger farm and has a show for a small well.

MEAT QUESTION SETTLED.

Right Food to Take Its Place.

"The shortness of the meat supply and the high price of steak is not an unmitigated evil. On the contrary, it is a probable blessing," says the Brooklyn Eagle.

"If meat could be raised to a price that would make it prohibitory, it might still be of good result, because it would teach those who depend almost entirely upon it to widen their dietary and learn to enjoy many good things of which they are now ignorant. To many, especially in the cities, there are but three foods, meat, potatoes and bread. The weary monotony of this program, the unsatisfied but indefinite longings for a widening of it affect appetite and surely affect spirits and temper.

"The laborer goes to his work filled with meat, potatoes and bread. At noon he finds cold meat and bread in his dinner-pail and at night he is confronted by meat and potatoes, sometimes separate, sometimes combined into a greasy stew, sometimes chopped into hash.

"This kind of thing fills him, but in a finer sense it can hardly be said to feed him. Physicians have discovered that a limited and unchanging diet lowers vitality and health."

Such a time as this gives everyone an opportunity to test the value of Grape-Nuts as a food and prove to themselves that it more than takes the place of meat and really furnishes more nourishment for the body and greater strength and vitality for the brain and nervous system; it is also an economical food that reduces the cost of living to the minimum.

Grape-Nuts are probably entitled to the claim to be the most perfectly adapted food for human needs now extant. The meat eater and the vegetarian are alike charmed with its crisp taste and the delicate flavor of grape sugar and the careful housewife is attracted by the fact that there are fourteen portions in a 15c package.

COAL LAND BOUGHT.

George M. Anderson Secures 6,000 Acres in Monroe County, Ohio.

George M. Anderson of Pittsburgh yesterday closed a deal through Attorney A. C. Denlow of Beallsville, O., for the purchase of 6,000 acres of coal of the Pittsburgh seam in the northern portion of Monroe county, O. The coal property purchased adjoins a recent purchase of 15,000 acres made by J. N. Few of Pittsburgh in Monroe and Belmont counties.

Arrangements will be made to develop both of these properties in a short time. The Anderson property will require the sinking of shafts from 40 to 250 feet deep to develop the coal. It is skirted by the line of the Bellaire, Zanesville & Cincinnati railroad. Near the coal property Mr. Anderson has also closed the leases on 5,000 acres of oil territory. The location is near Jerusalem, in the northern part of Monroe county.

The Controller and the Contractors.

By refusing to pay out more money on the filtration contract Controller Larkin will compel the contractors to permit an inspection of their work or will force them into court. Which course they will take is entirely a matter of their own choice. Refusal to permit the work to be inspected by an agent of the controller is not conclusive evidence that it will not bear inspection in the light of contract requirements, but it tends to create a strong prejudice in the minds of the people. Conscious rectitude does not fear a searchlight, and if the work on the reservoir has been done in accordance with the specifications the contractors need not hesitate to let the controller see for himself through the eyes of his authorized agent. In any event they will save time and trouble by removing obstructions from his course. He is acting within his rights as the agent of the people. It is his duty to see that money is not paid unless it is earned. If claimants prefer to go into court rather than permit inspection of their work it is their own business. But the alternative is the wiser course.

The Sheraden Horror.

A review of the calamity at Sheraden in the calmer moments of the following day does not minimize it. It is fully as large and as bad as was represented by the first reports. As to the causes the railroad officers and employes agree that the published statements concerning the origin of the disaster are correct. It was an accident, the degree of responsibility for which is yet to be established. Switching accidents are of frequent occurrence. It was the character of the freight and the proximity of a lighted switch lamp that made the trouble. The lighting of a switch lamp so early in the evening is a usual matter, but in this instance it was truly calamitous.

The calamity in itself is an impressive lesson to people to remain away from places of peril. But for the curiosity that drew and the fascination that held this crowd the injury and loss of life would have been comparatively small. The vast majority of the victims were not on the scene because of any business they had there.

The singular inactivity of the coroner's office is commented on. Little or nothing has been done by the official or his assistants to even make a record of the victims of the accident.

Good Work of the Hospitals.

Fortunately for many of the victims of the explosion and fire at Sheraden the scene of the disaster was sufficiently near at hand to make the city hospitals accessible, and these institutions in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, as well as that at McKees Rocks, were promptly thrown open to the sufferers. Although there had been no time for preparing to receive such an influx of patients the hospital attendants, nurses and physicians were equal to the emergency, and the scores of injured persons were given skillful treatment and tender care. Much suffering was alleviated, and doubtless many lives were saved, as a result of the work done at the hospitals, and the importance and necessity of these institutions have been demonstrated as never before.

By a singular coincidence this beneficent work of the hospitals comes at a time when there is a special opportunity for the manifestation of gratitude. The last day of this week will be observed in Pittsburgh and Allegheny as Hospital Saturday, at which time the public will have an opportunity of contributing financially, not only for the benefit of the hospitals, but as well for the benefit of those unfortunates who become the victims of accident or disease. The hospitals are doing a noble work, and they deserve the most liberal encouragement.

Municipal Expansion.

As a sign of prosperity in the Pittsburgh district nothing is more eloquent than the real estate news and real estate advertising published every day in The Gazette. A people who are not prosperous are not buying real estate and building comfortable homes. These things the people of Pittsburgh are doing and have been doing extensively for several years. Within a month at least a half-dozen large plans of modest building lots have been put on the market in city and suburbs. They are selling at a rate that is marvelous. This is in addition to the ordinary movement in older sections. It means that Pittsburgh workmen are able to secure homes of their own; that the city is expanding as it never expanded before, and that all that is needed to promote a more vigorous growth is facilities for quick transit of population and products. These may be promoted and encouraged by a broad municipal policy. Clean, honest, progressive government is a mainspring that does much for any locality; more for one with natural advantages.

Good Precedent to Establish.

Aid for the volcano and earthquake sufferers of Martinique, St. Vincent and Guatemala is being subscribed in every quarter of the civilized world. The German emperor and the king of England have made contributions and everywhere humble citizens are casting in their mite. Some of the money kings of America might outdo their royal majesties of England and Germany by their open-handed giving.

Up to the present the most generous gift is that of the United States. It is to be $500,000, with $200,000 of the amount already appropriated, and with warships and transports to carry of the abundance of this rich land to the destitute islanders. It is an example so strikingly noble that John Dillon was moved to ask in parliament yesterday whether the English government would not follow it. Mr. Balfour replied he had never heard of a vote of the kind being submitted to parliament. The British parliament is a conservative body, where precedents are magnified, but surely this is an occasion for creating one. The United States has no direct interest in any of the affected districts. Great Britain has territorial jurisdiction in St. Vincent, where the devastation has been great. St. Vincent, alone, would be regarded a stupendous catastrophe, but it is overshadowed by the greater horror of Martinique.

The British parliament has taken a few leaves from the parliamentary book of the American congress. But it never took a better one than the precedent for voting relief to the sufferers from a disaster that has few if any parallels in history. True, the English treasury is not overflowing as that of the United States is, but the demands of charity might still be given as much consideration as those of war.

The Root of the Matter.

Some surprise has been expressed in Pittsburgh newspapers and by Pittsburgh people that Victor Herbert's orchestra was not greeted by larger audiences when it appeared at the Duquesne Garden, charging what are usually known as "popular prices." There has also been a disposition to lecture the people who did not attend and to ascribe to them lack of appreciation of a good thing. This is a wrong view. The people were not kept away by lack of appreciation, but by pride. Perhaps everybody has read the story of the "lady" who resigned her place as cook because the mistress of the household in a burst of generosity and without solicitation raised her pay. The cook, it will be recalled, explained with some heat that she objected to being "patronized by the likes o' her." It wasn't the extra pay she objected to, but she wanted it only as "her rights," not as a gift. It is a somewhat similar feeling that kept down the attendance at Herbert's popular-price concerts. Most people object to being patronized. All who can afford the assessment go to hear the orchestra during the regular season. Those who cannot afford the assessment do not care to advertise the fact by attending the after-season concerts at popular prices. Their pride will not permit. Doubtless the majority of those who did attend at the popular prices were persons who had attended the concerts during the regular season, and who therefore had no feeling that they were being patronized. We cannot well criticise the independent spirit that resents what it regards as a charity or a half-charity. It is too closely associated with the spirit that holds one man to be "just as good as another, if not a little better," which is so large a factor in the make-up of the public sentiment that is the ultimate governing force in our democratic institutions.

The Foreigner Pays the Tax.

It is something of a novelty to find the British parliament engaged in a tariff discussion, and endeavoring to ascertain who pays the duty on imports. England has been a free trade country for many years. The principles of the Cobden club have ruled as the theory of British financiers. Taxes have been laid on some imports as a means of obtaining revenue. Of this nature is the new tax on grain and flour. It is a tariff for revenue only, but the debate it has started has gone into the question of who pays the tax, just as debates in the American congress do when tariff schedules are under discussion.

The British opposition is attacking the tax on the ground that it will increase the cost of the people's food, while the government leaders take the contrary view. They aver that the tax will be paid by the exporters, and that the consumers will get their foreign flour at no increase in price. The chancellor of the exchequer declares that there has been no general rise in the price of bread. He maintains that it is absurd to suppose that a three-penny duty on grain will reduce the wheat acreage in America. Having produced the wheat the farmers must sell it, and the chancellor believes that the wheat growers and carriers will pay the new tax if there is a large crop.

America has thrived on the protection system, and American protectionists have always maintained that home industries have been protected at no additional cost to the consumer. It is interesting to find Sir Michael Hicks-Beach coming around to the same view.

Maclay's History Barred.

President Roosevelt has determined that the Sampson-Schley affair shall remain a closed incident, at least so far as he can exercise control, and in furtherance of that determination he yesterday declared at the conclusion of a conference with Congressman Mudd:

Never while I am president of the United States shall Maclay's history be used at the naval academy as a text book.

Although the Sampson-Schley controversy had been progressing in a desultory manner for months it would probably have died peacefully in the course of time had not "Historian" Maclay precipitated a crisis by his vilification of Rear Admiral Schley. This offensive attack could not be ignored, and the result was the court of inquiry and another conflict of opinion. Having done so much mischief Maclay subsequently tried to make some amends by revising his naval history, but it was a work for which he had shown himself to be entirely disqualified, and therefore the barring of the history from the naval academy will be generally approved.

Today's Mining Convention.

Anthracite coal operators are determined, apparently, to let matters take their course. At the annual meeting of the Delaware and Hudson Company the shareholders sustained the officials' attitude, and President Olyphant announced that no further concessions to the miners will be made. The convention at Hazleton today will open with the outcome extremely uncertain. It is not cheering to learn that in the Hazleton district the miners are rampant for a strike. The convention will meet, therefore, in a strike atmosphere. In Lackawanna county instructions for and against a strike are about evenly divided. The wisest course has been taken by those locals which have instructed their delegates to vote according to the wishes of President Mitchell. The matter, we think, could be safely left to him, for he possesses a comprehensive grasp of the situation.

Theological Tilt Hastens a Student's Death

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, May 13.

Rather an unusual contributing cause is named for the death this morning of young Vincent Noll, a Union seminary student. He did not believe that Adam, the "first man," ever really existed. His firm conviction that Adam, as an historical personage, was a myth, caused the New York presbytery at first to refuse to grant him a license to preach as a Presbyterian minister, and this aggravated the ailment, consumption, which already had him in its grasp and hastened his death. So say his relatives. The young man passed away in this city at 5 o'clock this morning without ever knowing that the presbytery had reconsidered its action and had determined to give him its license. Miss Vincie Noll, his sister, is quoted as saying: "I do not want to appear as criticising the presbytery, but I do wish everybody to understand my brother never recanted. His mind was clear when he declared his disbelief in Adam, and he maintained his attitude on that subject to the very last." There is much discussion of the case in this city, particularly among churchmen; but no one is disposed to criticise either side harshly. The general remark is that it is "unfortunate." The deceased did not believe that Adam was placed in the Garden of Eden; that he ever had a wife named Eve, or that the serpent cut up his didoes under the Tree of Knowledge, and he said so in no uncertain terms. Presbytery was well within its rights in rebuking the young man who was an applicant for the right to preach in Presbyterian churches, and used its discretion in exercising leniency afterward. If Vincent Noll had not died the world would have heard little about the case and cared less. As it is the matter has furnished a sensation for the always avid appetite of New York, and people are talking about the possible connection of the church with the young fellow's untimely death who, before this, could not have told the difference between a presbytery and a metronome.

Trying Molineux Out of Court.

They are still trying the Molineux case in the public prints. Osborne, assistant district attorney, is quoted today as saying that the defendant will be convicted beyond all question, while his attorneys say that they have a complete alibi, all of which will make it still harder to get a jury absolutely without knowledge or opinions of the case.

Schwab's Contribution to Martinique.

The first person to reply to the appeal for aid for the Martinique sufferers, sent out by an evening paper here yesterday, was Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation. The paper today printed a fac simile of Mr. Schwab's telegram from Pittsburgh, in which he gave $2,500.

Gotham Cranks Given Chances.

New York has an easy way of dealing with cranks—from the crank's point of view. A wild-eyed man who has more than once tried to get at Mayor Low made another attempt today and caused some excitement around City hall by posting himself at the door of the mayor's office with the evident intention of darting in while no one was looking. At last he got into a row with the mayor's doorkeeper and was thrown out of the building by a policeman. Then he "fled," as one of the reporters puts it. This crank is regarded as dangerous, and many of the officials about City hall believe he might attack the mayor if he got at him. But there was no attempt to hold him. They just kicked him down the wide steps of the municipal edifice and let him go, to give him a chance to repeat his attack, which might be tragically successful next time.

Van Wyck and Nixon at Loggerheads.

Robert A. Van Wyck is much in the public eye in connection with Tammany just now. The ex-mayor has been quietly practicing law since he left the chair now occupied by Mayor Low, and only his friends have thought much about him; but Van Wyck is not the man to stay in retirement, even after such a slashing rebuke as he got from the voters of New York last November. He wants to be grand sachem of Tammany society, and it looks as if he may have his will. Lewis Nixon says no, but that does not prove anything. There was an exciting time at the wigwam last evening over the election of delegates and the choice of grand sachems was postponed for a week. Nixon says he will resign the leadership of Tammany Hall if Van Wyck is elected, and Van Wyck's friends intimate that Nixon can resign and be hanged to him. As for the astute Van Wyck, he has nothing to say. The silence that he found convenient when he was being hammered on all sides as mayor of Greater New York stands him in good stead now.

Commissioner Partridge's Aim.

Police Commissioner Partridge is trying to please the police force and at the same time give the city proper protection. That is what he says, and, doubtless, it is true; but he does not intend to go away with the two-platoon system and get back to the old plan of three platoons. He says that "Unless the criminals of this town decide to commit their acts at regular intervals—in fact, divide themselves into three platoons—I don't see how the patrolmen can be so divided." In the meantime rumors of Partridge's intended retirement, to make room for ex-Supt. Byrnes or some other supposed candidate for the commissionership, are as busy as they have been any time in the last two months.

Helen Gould's Sewing School.

Miss Helen Gould is a busy woman at all times. Just now she is preparing to open her summer sewing school for poor girls at Lyndhurst-on-the-Hudson. There will be 125 girls in the class for the beginning, and six teachers have been engaged to show them how to use the needle. The pupils are taught plain and fancy sewing. Miss Gould does not leave the work to paid assistants, however. She is always in the school herself whenever she can spare the time, and she sews as neatly and swiftly as any seamstress in the land. She is much interested in her conservatories at this time, too. She has at Irvington more than 1,000 rare azaleas in full bloom, lately imported from Belgium, and visitors from many miles around come to admire them. Miss Gould has named some of the blossoms for famous men. She has a Jules Verne, Admiral Tegethoff, Heinrich Muller, Kronprinz Frederick Wilhelm and Gen. von Moltke among them.

Three Millions for New Schoolhouses.

Greater New York is to have a number of new public schools. Mayor Low today approved ordinances providing for an issue of $3,000,000 corporate stock for the construction of new school buildings in different parts of the city. Three million dollars is a great deal of money, but even with all spent on schools there will not be room for all the children of the city who are entitled to public instruction. At present it is pitiful to see how many little ones cannot get desk room in the schools, particularly in the tenement districts.

Multi-Millionaires' Automobile Club.

Now that H. C. Frick has joined the Automobile Club of America, that organization has nearly all the very rich men of Pittsburgh on its membership list. Charles M. Schwab joined some time ago, according to published announcement. Wealthy men who lately have become members are John W. Gates, August Belmont, J. F. O'Shaugnessy, A. W. Rossiter, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt. This makes three Vanderbilts in the club. William K., Jr., and Reginald C. Vanderbilt were among the first names to be placed on the club's list. The club headquarters are in the Garden City hotel, in one of the prettiest spots on Long Island. An electrical and gasoline charging station is established there, as well. Substations for the club will be established at several points on Long Island.

Three New Plays All Hits.

The three plays seen in New York for the first time all have proved successful. More talk is heard about Mrs. Haines' perfervid drama, "Hearts Aflame," than about the other two. Down in the inmost opinion of most people was the feeling that this society play, by an unknown author, and with such a fierce title, would be a slump; but it was not, and the question is now, has a new dramatist of distinction arrived? "King Dodo," at Daly's, has established itself among the metropolitan hits, and Raymond Hitchcock, a comedian who has played in New York year in and year out without anyone discovering his great merit, is today acclaimed as the best comic opera comedian we have. He plays the leading comedy role in "King Dodo," and does it exceedingly well. Over on the West Side, at the Grand opera house, Hal Reid's drama, "At the Old Cross Roads," is well received.

New York's Taxable Property.

The report of the department of taxes and assessments for the first quarter of 1902, ending March 31, was made today. It gives the assessed valuation of Manhattan as $2,106,671,028, as against $2,124,234,326 in 1901, showing an increase of $72,395,709. The total of personal assessments in 1902 for all boroughs is $3,482,475,802, while in 1901 it was $3,224,095,389, showing a net increase of $158,380,413. The total for real estate and personal assessments is $5604,597,471.

Trying to Elevate the Bowery.

Forty thousand men sleep in bunks in Bowery lodging houses every night, passing the day in saloons, in the intervals of "panhandling." Another of the thousands of efforts that have been made to awaken these men to an unifting sense of what they might get in the way of happiness if they were to try is to be made by Bowery missionaries. A concert will be given on Friday at the Bowery mission and everyone will be invited to come in free. V. H. Benke, who wrote "The Volunteer Organist," and who is organist of the mission, will play, assisted by several vocalists. The opening of a series of concerts has caused something of a stir along the Bowery, and little else is talked about in the select society that gathers in the barrel-houses and dives of that thoroughfare. There may be a little religion mixed with the concert, but the average cruiser is pretty tough, and he never balks on a prayer or serious address. He finds it soothing, even if it has no lasting good effect. It is not easy to convert him, as many a city missionary can tell, to his sorrow.

A Book That Ford Coveted.

A rare book offered for sale at auction yesterday would have been bought by Paul Leicester Ford, most likely, had his life been spared. Its title is "A Catalogue of Choice and Valuable Books, Which Will Begin to be Sold Only by Benjamin Franklin, at the Postoffice in Philadelphia, on Wednesday, the 11th day of April, 1744, at Nine O'Clock in the Morning." The young author had been at the store examining this work several times and had declared that he meant to bid for it on the day of sale.

Buying Up Rockaway Beach.

William Wainwright, known as the "Father of Rockaway beach," has just bought 400 feet of property fronting on the ocean on Rockaway beach, from the Rockaway Beach Improvement Company. Mr. Wainwright intends buying almost all of Rockaway beach in the near future, and will spend more than $100,000 in improvements. When questioned today he would not say just what the property cost him, but remarked that a single city lot now costs over five times as much as the whole of Rockaway beach cost Jim Benson years ago. Benson paid less than $600.

WARM DEBATE OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Considerable Excitement Generated by a Discussion About the Purchase of School Books.

A lively meeting of the central board of education was held last night when the purchase of books from the American Book Company came up for discussion. While a majority of the members voted against any change, an investigation was spoken of, but no member expressed himself definitely upon the subject.

After the report of the committee on text books and supplies was read, recommending the books of the American Book Company, the amendments of John P. McTighe to substitute certain books published by others than the company named, were called up. George Gosser, chairman of the committee, said that when he called the committee the time was sufficient to raise any question as to expediency. He found it impossible to get a quorum. He had heard that certain agents had waited upon members and induced them to remain away. He declared that no change in books had been asked for by principals and teachers and that the only desire to change had been expressed by book agents.

Mr. McTighe said that he desired an investigation. After some discussion a vote was taken on McTighe's first amendment to substitute Cyrea' Readers (Ginn & Co.) for Baldwin's Readers (American Book Company). It was lost, 8 to 29. All of the other amendments were also lost and the report of the committee was unanimously adopted.

The committee on text books and supplies recommended the election of a general director of physical culture. There are 21 schools in the city employing their own instructors. John McKain spoke against any change of this method, preferring to see each local board employ its own teacher. He offered a substitute for the recommendation by the committee to confirm with the ideas he expressed.

Mr. McKain's amendment was carried almost unanimously.

The committee on text books and supplies reported the cost of books for the sub-district schools from July 3, 1901, to May 1, 1902, to have been $28,077. Other reports showed the April enrollment of teachers to have been 1,020 and pupils, 40,049; warrants drawn during April, $82,465 95; high school attendance during the month, 1,518.

PERSONAL.

A. Schneider, French consular agent and president of the Fort Davis Hydraulic Mining Company, at Nome, Alaska, accompanied by his business partner, V. Porte, of Paris, passed through the city last night on the Limited to San Francisco, whence they will sail to Nome. Mr. Schneider said: "Last year our company built a ditch 11 miles long, which cost $40,000, but we have not been able to open it, as it is solidly frozen. The mining season in Nome lasts only from the middle of June until the middle of October. There is plenty of gold, but the city is only good for mining purposes. Every claim has been taken up in the vicinity, and it is impossible to purchase one. The company of which I am the president is controlled by French capitalists."

"The war in South Africa has cast a shadow over England," remarked J. A. France, a produce dealer and importer of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, while waiting for the limited last night to take him to Industry, Ill., to visit friends. "Business could be much better in England," he said, "but the war has affected all trades. At Newcastle-on-Tyne the large Armstrong gun works are running steadily, and the firm is building two new cruisers for the British government."

E. T. Teats, who for eight years has been engaged in placer mining in Dutch Guiana, was a passenger on the limited last night. "The country is rich in gold," he remarked, "but the method of mining is very primitive. I have not been at my home for so long that I will be very glad to see Denver again."

WABASH OFFICE OPEN.

New City Ticket Salesroom Ready for Business This Morning.

After over three months of preparation the new city passenger and freight offices of the Wabash Railroad Company are this morning thrown open for business. The offices occupy the whole first floor of the former office of The Gazette at No. 320 Fifth avenue. Few formalities have been arranged for the opening. It is expected, however, that several of the officials of the company will be here today, as invitations have been extended to all.

The office is equipped with solid mahogany desks, chairs, ticket-counters, file and tariff cases. The partitions are of mahogany and chipped glass. The floor is of mosaic tile. The walls are tinted olive-green. The ceiling has an ivory finish, with cross-beams in the Corinthian style. Along the full length of the room, 180 feet, a wide lobby runs. The ticket counter is at the entrance to the room, in charge of Edward George. The office of Passenger Agent Charles Hamilton adjoins this. Next is the office of Fred H. Tristram, assistant general passenger agent, with the office of Contracting Freight Agent H. S. Bradley, and the clerical room in charge of Garfield Weiler, next. The file room is the last on this side. Occupying the entire rear of the building is the office of W. D. Holliday, assistant general freight agent, and a private conference room.

Cable Messages from Martinique Cross the Atlantic Twice—By Brazil and Portugal.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(Special.)—On account of the breaking of the regular cable from Leeward Islands to the United States the cable messages received during the last four days from Fort de France, Martinique, and Sau Lucia reach this city by an extremely roundabout route.

A message from Fort de France is relayed through the following places: Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana; Cayenne, French Guiana; Para, Brazil; Pernambuco, Brazil; to St. Vincent, Cape Verde islands; to Madeira; to Lisbon, Portugal; to the Azores, to New York, a total distance of 13,276 miles. The ordinary cable distance from Martinique, by way of Haiti, is 2,262 miles.

MRS. CAMPBELL IN ANOTHER PROBLEM PLAY

Arthur Wing Pinero's Morbid but Brilliant Story of the Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith.

"The Notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith," was written for Mrs. Campbell by Mr. Pinero after her great triumph as Paula Tanqueray, and is therefore a complement of the last-named play in more senses than one. The story is more deeply metaphysical in its manner of presenting the problem and in places far less spiritled and absorbing. This may be due to the nature of the story and the people of the play. The setting, both as regards dialogue and persons, is less brilliant, though there are many flashes of the Pinero satire any cynicism. Mrs. Ebbsmith is herself a fanatic pure and simple—a fanatic of the uncompromising sort who through embittering experiences comes to rail at all things held sacred by healthy-minded people. The daughter of a miserable agitator and half-anarchist, she becomes, while yet a mere girl, the wife of a man who treats her as an animal. After eight years of married torture death takes her husband from her, and thereafter she follows her father, as an orator at obscure meetings in dirty alleys. "Mad Agnes" they call her, and not without reason.

Eventually she becomes a nurse, and at Venice fate makes her path and that of Lucas Cleeve, a young Englishman, cross. Cleeve is separated from his wife, and when he becomes ill Agnes nurses him back to health. Mutually attracted by their somewhat similar misadventures in the wedded state, they resolve to cast their lots together. Agnes is for a platonic union, independent of the world and its sneers, but guiltless. Cleeve, before long, talks of closer association, and even of divorce and marriage. Then their paths begin to diverge again, imperceptibly at first, but none the less surely. Cleeve thinks of his lost "career," and the world, in the person of his uncle, the cynical duke of St. Olpherts, begins to call to him. The end is as might be expected. Cleeve goes back to his wife to live a life and Agnes, awake at the last to love, goes her way alone.

The masterful genius of Pinero is in evidence throughout the development of this unpleasant, not to say offensive, story. Its logic is unconvincing. One can hardly be patient through the long speeches in which the commonest truths of life are distorted, either on one side or another. But there can be no question about the brilliancy and force with which the playwright marshals his forces. His theme is distasteful and shocks the canons of decent thinking, but his satire fairly blazes with sparkling epigram and his climaxes are wrought with such consummate skill that he seems to win his point and you feel that though the notorious Mrs. Ebbsmith is an impossible figment of the brain, it is worth while for her to have lived in order to preach this sermon—if you consent to believe the stage the proper place for threshing out the interminable sex problems.

But with all Pinero's genius we doubt whether his Mrs. Ebbsmith is one-half so appealing as Mrs. Campbell. The role was written for her, it is said. She plays it with such fine intelligence, such wonderful understanding of its demands, that it becomes infinitely more impressive, more tolerable than the story could ever be if merely told. Indeed, we doubt whether any one of the thousands of real Mrs. Ebbsmiths that the world has unfortunately produced, could ever have lived the part so accurately as the English actress gave it to us on the stage of the Alvin last night. There can hardly be anything finer in all the range of simulated emotion than the tense, climatic moment when confronted with the written form of truth against which her own life had been so long in revolt, she seizes the Bible and dashes it into the fire, only the next moment with a wild cry of remorse to reach amid the flames and rescue it. Mrs. Campbell's Agnes Ebbsmith is a splendid picture of feminine emotion, a magnificent portrayal of an odd and highly wrought temperament, an accurate and palpitating reproduction of a distorted, suffering human creature. Its command, its range and force are simply marvelous and leave, with all the bad odor of the theme, one of the most vivid impressions of fine acting seen on the local stage in many years. The company in support of the star were seen to better advantage than in the Tanqueray. The Duke St. Olpherts of Mr. George Arliss was a splendid piece of character work, excelling in some points even his the acting of that other fine English actor, Mr. John Hare, who played the part in America last year. Mr. Arliss is an exceedingly talented actor and we were not to be surprised to hear of him in larger circumstances even than those of being the best actor in Mrs. Patrick Campbell's company. Mr. Waring was excellent, if a little tame sometimes, as Lucas Cleeve. Miss Hall gave first-class as Mrs. G. S. Titheridge, Mrs. Campbell's other leading man, who did the small part of the Rev. Amos Winterfield capitally. Miss Milner was seen to much better advantage as Mrs. Thorpe. Tonight Sudermann's "Magda" will be presented

"Under Southern Skies."

Grace George is to follow Mrs. Patrick Campbell on the stage of the Alvin theater, concluding the season there with her performance of Lottie Blair Parker's unique American play, "Under Southern Skies." Miss George has won a considerable measure of success in this piece, and the charm of her entertainment is vouched for by such eminent authorities as Alan Dale, Hillary Bell, Norman Hapgood, R. H. Titherdel, Lyman B. Glover and Amy Leslie. The engagement at the Alvin will be of the usual duration.

TOLD A GRAPHIC STORY.

Miss Ellen M. Stone Describes Her Recent Experiences With Brigands in Macedonia.

Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary who was captured by Turkish brigands last September, and for whom a ransom of $65,000 was paid last January, lectured in Carnegie Music hall last evening before a large audience, who listened most intently to the graphic and interesting story of her capture and release.

Miss Stone has a most pleasing personality and is an entertaining lecturer. She tells her story simply and impressively, with an occasional reference to the comic phase of the terrible ordeal through which she has so recently passed, which was received with evident enjoyment by her audience.

The account of the journey in Macedonia, where she had been a missionary for the past 20 years, the capture, the forced march up the mountain, the separation of herself and Mme. Tsilka from the other members of the party, the constant changing at night of their camps, the birth of Mme. Tsilka's girl baby, the treatment they received at the hands of the brigands, the communication she held with Mme. Beckmetiff, formerly Miss Beale, the daughter of Gen. Beale of Washington, now the wife of the Russian consul general in Bulgaria, and all the details of her unfortunate experience, were related and at the conclusion she explained a number of photographs which were displayed by the stereopticon, and which illustrated the people and various scenes of the foreign country where she has lived so long.

After the lecture Miss Stone held a reception in the hall and a majority of the audience availed themselves of the opportunity to meet her and congratulate her upon her safe return to her native land.

LEWIS NIXON MAY QUIT.

He Will Run Tammany to Suit Himself or He Will Resign the Leadership.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Lewis Nixon has declared that he will resign the leadership of Tammany Hall if he is not permitted to direct the affairs of the organization in his own way. The declaration was made in a talk about the action of Tammany society's sachems last night in dividing on the question of allowing the grand sachem, Mr. Feitner, to hold over for another year. Nixon had recommended that Feitner be kept in office, but six of the 12 sachems present, headed by John F. Carroll, would not accept Feitner and insisted that an election be held. That would have meant Feitner's retirement, as he could not be re-elected under the constitution. Action was postponed for a week. Questioned today about the matter, Mr. Nixon said:

"I favored the retention of Feitner as grand sachem. I believe that no change should be made in the organization of the Tammany society. I am doing my best for Tammany. I want to restore the organization to power. If I find I cannot do what I think best, then there is only one thing for me to do—to go."

SOCIETY

A MEETING of the McAll mission auxiliary in Pittsburgh was held yesterday afternoon at the Twentieth Century club. The president, Mrs. Charles H. Spencer, was present at the annual meeting of the American branch of the McAll mission, held last Thursday and Friday in Morristown, N. J., and yesterday gave a short and interesting report of the meetings. Her report was confined chiefly to the addresses which were made by prominent men, one of whom referred to the McAll mission as a triple alliance, active in England, France and this country. Another speaker was Dr. Rossiter, the representative of the mission in the United States, who was recently in Pittsburgh and spoke before the Pittsburgh auxiliary at the home of Mrs. Moses Atwood.

The American and English branches are organized for the purpose of interesting people in these countries in the work of the McAll mission, which is located in the city of Paris on the banks of the Seine, and in the distant peasant districts, and to provide the money for its support. The Pittsburgh auxiliary has representatives in almost every church in the two cities. Last year its receipts amounted to $1,100, larger than in previous years.

The officers of the Pittsburgh auxiliary of the McAll mission include the following: President, Mrs. Charles H. Spencer; vice presidents, Mrs. John S. Davidson, Presbyterian; Miss Emma Mabon, United Presbyterian; Mrs. Sullivan Johnson, Methodist Episcopal; Mrs. William K. Gillespie, Methodist Protestant; Mrs. George Shiras, III., Protestant Episcopal; Mrs. John C. Lippincott, Baptist; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Henry A. Laughlin; assistant corresponding secretary, Miss M. E. Stevenson; recording secretary, Miss Anna M. Browne; treasurer, Mrs. Moses Atwood.

Observing Donation Day.

The annual donation day reception was held yesterday afternoon at the Curtis Home for Destitue Women in Fulton street. In the evening the reception resolved into a musicale, a number of well-known musicians rendering the enjoyable program. The hours were from 2 o'clock until 10. Receiving the guests were the officers and managers of the home; Mrs. A. M. Hamnett, Mrs. T. A. Smith, Mrs. David Challinor, Mrs. J. P. Gettman, Mrs. W. F. McJunkin, Mrs. W. T. Marshall, Mrs. J. C. McDonnell, Mrs. E. A. Houston, Mrs. James Wilson, Mrs. F.

German Baptists to Be Censured; Striking Negroes Fire Upon Posse

CHURCHMEN TO FACE CENSURE

IN SESSION AT HARRISBURG

HARRISBURG, PA., May 13.—German Baptists who are lax in conforming to the church regulations will be publicly censured during the annual meeting now in session in Paxtang park. The admonition will be delivered by some prominent member of the church not yet decided upon and will be made to the offenders as a class and not individually.

The principal faults for which these delinquents will be admonished are in matters of dress and personal adornment. The Baptists believe that the wearers of anything but the plainest and cheapest clothing are guilty of serious breaches of the law of God. The clothing should be cut according to an adopted pattern, no cravats should be worn, and he who wears a gold chain for his watch is believed to be in danger of perdition.

Gold-rimmed spectacles are tabooed, but silver may be worn. Recent converts who were accustomed to carry gold watches before they became members of the church are permitted to carry them, but must use no chain. There is a ban upon the wearing of gold rings and all ornaments are considered unholy.

Baptists are coming in slowly from all parts of the country and by Saturday, when the annual conference opens, it is expected there will be 25,000 on the grounds.

TO MOVE INDUSTRIES FROM CONNELLSVILLE

Deal Completed for the Relocation of Three Plants at Morgantown.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., May 13.—A deal has been made whereby three of Connellsville's big industries are to be moved to Morgantown, W. Va. This is the result of an offer of a bonus from the Elains-Sturgis syndicate. The industries are to be located on the new Morgantown & Kingwood railroad. They are the Rolling Mill Company of North America, recently incorporated by New York capital under a New Jersey charter, and now in course of construction here; the Iron & Steel Aluminum Coating Company, and the Baldwin Automobile Manufacturing Company, which was recently sold to J. C. Kurtz of this place at bankrupt sale. George J. Humbart, who founded South Connellsville, is in New York arranging for the transfer.

This deal will strip South Connellsville of all industries except the plant of the American Tin Plate Company. Local capital was largely invested in the automobile factory before its failure, and old stockholders, as well as lot purchasers, say they will enter suit to restrain the industries from removing.

BURGLARS BEAT AN AGED WOMAN.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., May 13.—Mrs. Lavina Altman, aged 76 years, was badly beaten by burglars last night and today she is in a critical condition. Mrs. Altman resides near the borough of Ludwick. Late in the night two men wearing masks entered her home, where she lives alone. The robbers went to her bed room and demanded her money, but she told them that she only had a few dollars. She was rudely jerked from her bed and terribly beaten.

Leaving the woman unconscious on the floor the robbers made a thorough search of the premises, but nothing of great value was found. This morning friends of Mrs. Altman found her on the floor of her bed room. Physicians were summoned and it was found that she was seriously hurt, having been pounded over the head with some blunt instrument.

About a year ago Mrs. Altman was attacked by robbers in the same manner. After she recovered she went to the home of a relative to live, near Grapeville. A week ago she returned to her old home.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK NEW MACHINE SHOPS

Watchmen Bound, Bolts Removed and Ropes Cut on Structural Work at Alliance O.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALLIANCE, O., May 13.—Early this morning an attempt was made to wreck the structural work of the new shops of the Alliance Machine Company. William Everhard, watchman, was bound with a rope and locked in a shanty. The iron work is being done by the Penn Bridge Company of Beaver Falls, Pa., and a large section of the shop has been erected.

The ropes supporting a 60-foot iron derrick and two smaller wooden derricks were cut, allowing the booms to fall. The bolts were removed from the iron work, but, owing to some of them being riveted the structure could not be thrown over. An effort was made to blow up the boiler of a small hoisting engine used to raise the work. The watchman believes he can identify two of the five men who did the work.

Bond Issue Carried.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., May 13.—A special election was held here today to determine whether or not bonds to the amount of $81,000 shall be issued for the construction of a conduit to relieve Grafius run, a small stream which has for a number of years been a menace to the city. The vote resulted in the loan issue carrying by a majority of 587.

NEGROES FIRE UPON A POSSE

FOURTEEN ARRESTS MADE

LANCASTER, PA., May 13.—Forty negroes employed at the quarries of the Wrightsville Lime Company, near Bainbridge, struck for an increase of wages this morning, and when the other employes, about 160 Italians, refused to join them, the negroes drove them away with revolvers and took possession of the quarry. A deputy sheriff was dispatched to the scene, but the negroes threatened to shoot him if he tried to make any arrests. A posse comitatus was then sent from this city.

The most desperate of the negroes barricaded themselves in a shanty. When called upon to surrender they opened fire, and a lively exchange of shots followed. The negroes jumped from the windows and fled into the woods. Some of them, it is believed, were wounded, while the officers escaped unhurt.

Fourteen of the negroes, including the leaders, were captured and landed in the county jail, but considerable uneasiness is felt at the quarries in view of the large number of negroes still at large. The Italians are in a state of fear. The ringleaders of negroes were George and William Dickinson and Adolph Jackson. The negroes were recently brought here from Virginia.

HARRISBURG, PA., May 13.—Charters were issued by the state department as follows: United States Savings and Trust Company, Pittsburgh, capital, $1,000; the Franklin Rolling Mill and Foundry Company, Franklin, capital, $750,000; the Shinglehouse Water Company, Coudersport, capital $25,000.

GREENSBURG, PA.—Two more cases of smallpox developed in this vicinity, making six in all. The families of Peter Lasure is quarantined, Mrs. Leasure and a daughter, aged 10 years, being down with the disease.

SHARON, PA.—The structural workers employed in constructing the new mills at the Sharon steel mill and the works of the National Malleable Steel Company, who struck about two weeks ago, returned to work.

GREENSBURG, PA.—While fishing in the Loyalhanna creek, at McCance, on the Ligonier Valley railroad, Philip Fowler, a 12-year-old son of William Fowler, was drawn into the stream and drowned. It is supposed that an alligator fastened on the hook, pulled him in.

Adamson, Mollie M. Newman, Nellie G. Harvey, Almeda B. Huffman and H. Adelle Koontz. Wylie A. Suter was president of the class.

LARGE BUILDING CONTRACTS TIED UP

WORK WORTH $22,000,000 IS INDEFINITELY DELAYED.

The New Scales of Wages Agreed to by Employes in the Building Trades Will Necessitate New Estimates on Work Practically Ready to Start.

Although the May strikes of the building trades are practically at an end, estimates from architects show that in Pittsburgh alone building amounting to a cost of $22,000,000 has been called off by reason of advanced wages already established. The estimates for this enormous amount of building have been recalled and will have to be made over again. T. M. Walker, proprietor of "The Builder," will announce in his next issue that this amount of work is suspended in Pittsburgh. It is probable that much of it will be indefinitely delayed.

Gradually the difficulties between the employers and the employes are passing away. The Master Builders' association and other employers of carpenters yesterday voted to call all men back to work at the new wage rate of $3.50 for the eight-hour day. Employers of the bridge and structural iron workers, outside of the American Bridge Company, met yesterday in the offices of the Riter-Conley Manufacturing Company with representatives of the union and agreed to meet the settlement of the Anderson Bridge Company.

With the settlement with the bridge workers is carried a settlement for the hoisting engineers. The engineers will receive 47½ cents an hour.

PORT AU PRINCE, HAITI, May 13.—The palace, in which were former President Sam and his wife; the arsenal and the residence of Gen. Vilbrun, former secretary of war, were attacked last night by revolutionists under the leadership of Gen. St. Fois Colin.

The attack on the palace was repulsed after one hour's fighting. Several men were killed and many were wounded.

Gen. Vilbrun managed to elude the revolutionary citizens and sought refuge in the French legation. Gen. Defly evacuated the arsenal and fled to the palace.

Gen. Sam early this morning sent a messenger to United States Minister Powell requesting the latter to come to the palace, as he wished to place himself under the protection of the minister and diplomatic corps. The diplomatic corps was convened by Mr. Powell, who is the dean. The corps then went to the palace in carriage to take Gen. and Mrs. Sam away. They were removed in a carriage with the United States and French ministers. A large crowd applauded the party along the route to the dock, where the French steamship Olindes Rodriguez was moored. Gen. and Mrs. Sam and the former Haitian officials went aboard the vessel to sail to France.

Late rumors are to the effect that Gen. Firman has been proclaimed, at Cape Haytien, president of the republic. The northern part of the republic is said to be generally in favor of Firmin.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.—(Special.)—Secretary Hay received this afternoon a dispatch from Mr. Powell, minister at Port Au Prince, which reads:

The chambers have been closed by mob. Much firing ensued and one deputy was mortally wounded. The populace attacked the palace and arsenal last night. Several were killed and wounded. The diplomatic corps embarks with the president today. The minister for foreign affairs and the minister of war have taken refuge in the American legation. Firmin, with his army, is marching on Port Au Prince. Great excitement prevails at Port Au Prince and business is suspended for the present.

Secretary Hay referred a copy of Mr. Powell's message to the secretary of the navy with a request that a warship be at once dispatched to Haitian waters. Orders were telegraphed to the gunboat Topeka to sail as soon as possible for Port Au Prince. She will leave on Saturday.

REFUSES TO RESIGN.

Episcopal Church Dignitaries Find Difficulty in Securing Aged Professor's Retirement.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The trustees of the Episcopal General Theological seminary today discussed the case of Dr. Thomas Richey, professor of ecclesiastical history.

Some time ago the board formulated charges against Dr. Richey, the principal ones being that he was too old and infirm and had not occupied the chair for weeks at a time. It seems that, by the terms on which he took the chair, the trustees have not full power to make him vacate the office, and he avers in a letter read today that he is fully capable of attending to his duties. He has occupied the chair for more than 25 years.

The trustees today were unable to unseat Dr. Richey, so adjourned after unanimously requesting him to resign before September 11 on a pension of half salary, which is $4,000.

GERMAN STEAMER LOST OFF COAST

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

VALPARAISO, CHILE, May 13.—The German steamer Sakkarah, Capt. Fiening, has become a total loss south of Chiloe island, off the coast of Chile. The Sakkarah's crew and passengers were saved. The cargo of the Sakkarah included 1,500,000 in gold specie which was being remitted by the Chilean government. The Sakkarah left here April 24 for Hamburg.

The Sakkarah belongs to the Cosmos line of Hamburg. She was last reported at Valparaiso March 26. She was a vessel of 2,900 tons and was built at Newcastle, Eng., in 1897.

LONDON, May 13.—A dispatch received here today from Lloyds agents at Rangoon, British Burmah, says that the British steamer Camorta, from Madras, which is stated to have 350 passengers on board, is eight days overdue.

NAVY NOT INVINCIBLE

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.—The naval appropriation bill, which provides for two new battleships, two armored cruisers and two gunboats, and carries a total of $77,650,000, was taken up in the house today.

Representative Foss of Illinois, chairman of the naval committee, sounded a note of warning against the overconfident belief that our navy is invincible. He declared that our victories at Manila and Santiago were due to the fact that we were contending with an effete and decaying nation, and that our strength far outmatched Spain in those contests.

SPANISH GREET AMERICAN ENVOY

Special Representative to the Coronation is Royally Received.

ON SAME FOOTING AS PRINCES OF THE BLOOD

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MADRID, May 13.—Dr. Jabez L. M. Curry, the special representative of the United States at the coronation of King Alfonso, arrived this afternoon and was received at the railroad station by the secretary of the United States legation, S. S. Sickles, and Mrs. Sickles, and by the Marquis Vallalobar, representing the government. The American envoy was driven in a royal landau to the residence which he will occupy during his stay in this city.

Dr. Curry was greatly pleased with the quarters provided for him. He reached the house in time to witness from the windows the first ceremony connected with the present festival, which was attended by the king, the queen regent and the court, namely, the laying of the foundation stone of a free school. The neighboring houses were gaily decorated with flags and soldiers and civic guards were drawn up around the site.

The American envoy has been placed on practically the same footing as foreign princes of the blood and is treated with greater honor than the other extraordinary envoys, with the exception of the envoy of France. Dr. Curry has a house to himself, servants, a French cook and a royal carriage, with a coachman and footman in the palace livery, whereas the other envoys are lodged at hotels. Dr. Curry was formerly United States minister at Madrid.

SIXTEEN PLAYER RULE

President Dreyfuss Has Not Been Officially Notified as Yet—Enforcement of Rule May Prove a Good Thing for American League.

YESTERDAY'S LEAGUE GAMES.

New York	12	9	.571	Cincinnati	7	15	.318
Boston	9	10	.474	St. Louis	6	14	.300

There was too much rain for baseball yesterday, so the second game between the champions and Buckenberger's Baseballers was called off. This postponed game will not be played until the next visit of the Boston team to this city, as there is a league law which prevents doubleheaders during the opening series of games.

Secretary Pulliam did not act on the matter of no game until 2 o'clock and as the rain was still falling he telephoned to Manager Buckenberger at the Monongahela house, telling him it was no use to take his players to the park. The champions were rather thankful to the weather man for providing a day off for them to spend the afternoon at one of the theaters. Manager Clarke remained at the park to act as custodian for a lot of presents showered on him for his home run hit on Monday. The first return was a handsome silk umbrella from an enterprising Penn avenue firm. Other returns may be looked for today.

It Was Tim Hurst's Suggestion.

Secretary Pulliam spent the afternoon in a very busy manner, being engaged in making out a seat chart for the new bicycle track at Recreation park and trying to explain why the new place is called the "Colosseum" instead of Coliseum. President Dreyfuss puts the blame on Tim Hurst, who is manager of the track. On Sunday last Tim called on Mr. Dreyfuss and the name for the track came up for discussion. Tim said: "I think the name comes from some big guy who used to do stunts over in Rome. I don't know how you spell it, but put in as many S's as possible, so as to start the people arguing on the right and wrong way of spelling it. That will make a good ad." So it goes as Colosseum.

President Dreyfuss has as yet received no official communication relative to the 16-player rule, and he is not looking for any because he would rather see that rule side-stepped. He does not want to cut down his team, as he had a lot of trouble in gathering the talent he now has on hand, and while it would save a lot of money to lop off the salaries of three players, still he is not looking at it from the financial end. The players he has are all men who can be depended on in an emergency, and it is a difficult task to find talent of that kind when it is wanted. Of course, he looks on the rule as a silly bit of legislation, but if it still holds good all he can do is to obey it.

May Help the Opposition.

One point these wise men who are trying to have that rule enforced have overlooked, and that is their action may be a step toward strengthening up a rival organization, the American league. There is a National league law which gives the player a chance for his white alley, and that law specifies that no player can be transferred from one team to another without the player's consent. This law protects the player and keeps him from being shifted to a team or a town he does not like and would not want to play in. This is part of that contract presented two years ago by Chief Zimmer, the president of the Players' association, and this is the contract upon which the supreme court of this state based its opinion in the Lajoie case.

If this rule is enforced the Pittsburgh club will have to let out such players as Poole, Merritt and Burke, a trio that would strengthen any club, not only in the National, but in the American. There would be nothing to prevent these players from demanding their unconditional release, and according to the league law, they would be entitled to such a release. The players then being free could sign with any club they pleased, and as the American wants good talent and is willing to pay for it, then it might secure one or all of the players named. To an outsider the enforcement of the 16-player rule looks like a very unwise action at the present time.

MANY GAMES PLANNED.

The Pittsburgh Field Club Is Preparing for an Active Season of Golf.

The Pittsburgh Field club is planning an active season on the local golfing green and announces as the first of its team matches one with the Westmoreland Country club on the Logans Ferry course May 31.

The club, though not in the league of the Western Pennsylvania association, expects to play as much match golf as any of the local clubs and has a schedule of intercity matches in preparation which will include Steubenville, Washington, New Castle, Wheeling, Oil City and Ligonier. Contests will also be arranged if possible with the other five members of the local league in addition to the game with Westmoreland.

There is a movement among the Field club members in favor of a new club house to take the place of the temporary frame building which has been in use ever since the old headquarters burned down. In view of the club's activity in golf, tennis, cricket and baseball, there is great need for a club house.

SHADYSIDE'S GOLF TEAM.

Student Players Will Put in a Busy Season.

The Shadyside Academy golf team is preparing for a season of activity. Challenges have been issued to the following members of the Western Pennsylvania league: Pittsburgh Golf club, Edgewood Golf club, Edgeworth club and Westmoreland Country club.

The team expects to play all its games away from home as there is no room for a golf course at Shadyside. J. D. Duff, Will Armstrong, H. Byram, F. J. Kay and Syl Preston are the five members of the team selected, with a sixth yet to be secured from the Academy students.

ARCHIE MEACHREN KILLED.

The Bicycle Champion Went to Death Behind a Motor.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 13.—Archie McEachern, the well-known champion bicycle rider of Toronto, Canada, while being paced by a motor tandem this afternoon at the Coliseum track, met with an accident which resulted in his death 20 minutes later. The accident was the result of the breaking of the chain on the motor cycle.

Riding the tandem were Alf Boake and Robert B. Thompson, who have raced with McEachern for ten years. The effort today was to establish a new mile record. Several miles had been covered when the chain broke. In the sudden slowing up the damaged tandem McEachern collided with it and shot in the air like a rocket. His head struck a board which cut a gash in his neck from which blood spurted. The jugular vein was torn open. He expired shortly after his removal to a hospital. Boake and Thompson were uninjured.

THE STATE SHOOT.

Champion Elliott Made Straight Score from 21-Yard Mark.

OIL CITY, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—The twelfth annual tournament of the Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's association opened today with unfavorable weather, but good attendance. There were nine state events and six open events with a big class of entries.

In the seventh event, the 25-target handicap, J. A. Elliott of Kansas City, who holds the live bird championship of the world, took first place with 25 straight from the 21-yard mark, and was the only one of the experts back of the 19-yard mark who landed among the winners in this event. It is believed this is the first time a perfect score has been made in such an event from the 21-yard mark. The conditions were very hard, which makes Mr. Elliott's performance the more creditable. Crosby, who has long been classed as the best target shot in the world, kept up his record today by taking first average with ease.

Will Have Pigeon Fights.

NEW CASTLE, PA., May 13.—(Special.)—The New Castle Homing Pigeon club has been re-organized for this season and many interesting flies will be held between local birds, while it is expected that New Castle birds will enter the long distance championship late in the summer. Sheriff James H. Brown of this county is president of the local organization, and Samuel A. Winternitz is the secretary and treasurer. The club comprises some 30 enthusiastic lovers of pigeons, who have more than 300 birds, many of whom have taken diplomas in former national events and long distance efforts. Local birds will this summer fly from Maysville, Ind., Elwood, Ind., Middleboro, Ky., and other places.

Strong Team for Verona.

Harry Lantz, the veteran baseball player, has organized a strong amateur team in Oakmont and Verona this year, under the name of the Oakmont Athletic club. They have been using the grounds of the old Athletic association at Edgewater station to practice on. The team that has been gotten together is one of the strongest purely amateur teams in this part of the state. Red Simpson will do most of the pitching, and several other good club artists are signed for the season. Almost all of the games have been arranged away from home. Turentum, New Kensington, Leechburg and all the other strong amateur teams have arranged games with Oakmont. Later in the season games will be played on the home grounds, as the fence which the railroad company tore down in order to enlarge their Verona yards, will be replaced.

Will Meet on the South Side.

The contest between Frank McCloskey and Eddie Zang next Monday night will be held under the auspices of the Birmingham A. C. of the South Side, at a vaudeville and athletic show given by them at Mt. Oliver Turner hall. It will be the windup of a fine show, the program including some of the best talent in the two cities. McCloskey and Zang are to weigh in at noon Monday afternoon at 4:30 the weight 115 pounds. The referee will be selected Saturday evening.

High School Teams Will Meet.

The Allegheny High School nine is to line up this afternoon at Friendship park with the Pittsburgh High School. All the Allegheny High School players and all the pupils who wish to attend will meet at the corner of Ohio and Federal streets at 1:30 p. m. The following A. H. S. players are requested to be present: Geiger, Thompson, Robels, James, Cox, Marhoff, Burgess, Brown, Hunter, Shaffer, Hamilton, Chalfant, Boyd and Clayton.

Steamer Francis J. Torrance.

First excursion of the season Saturday, May 17, at 3 p. m., from Monongahela wharf. Fare 50 cents; children 25 cents.

TWO PROPERTIES IN SEWICKLEY VALLEY BOUGHT

They Are Located Near Leetsdale and Were Sold for $35,000.

DIAMOND SECTION SALE

Architects Award Many Building Contracts—A New United Brethren Church for Wilkinsburg. Many Small Properties in Market.

Two good properties in the Sewickley valley changed hands yesterday for an approximate consideration of $35,000. The deal is credited to George Bros., who were agents for both properties. One property consists of a plot of 14 acres situated in Leet township just below Leetsdale and about four miles from Sewickley. It has a frontage of 800 feet on the lower side of the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago railroad tracks and extends back nearly an equal distance toward the river. The farm formerly belonged to Mrs. Mary Woods and was bought for about $20,000. The other tract of 20 acres adjoins the Woods holdings on the lower side, extending to the river. It was purchased from the Meeks heirs for $15,000. The two properties constitute one of the best manufacturing sites along the river, but whether they will be used for this purpose at once is not known, as the purchaser's name could not be learned. The Leetsdale and Economy districts are changing front very rapidly owing to the Riter-Conley works and the plant of the American Bridge Company, which are locating near, and it is not unlikely that in a few years this section will be one of the busiest points around Pittsburgh.

Broker Buys a Business Lot.

Another sale in the Diamond district was reported yesterday, the consideration being $13,000. By the transaction Anna B. Geisler has disposed of a lot 30x60 feet on the west side of Decatur street, First ward, and the reputed purchaser is R. C. Hill, who recently made another good buy in this square. The Geisler lot is opposite the property of John Dimling and is improved with a three-story brick building.

Through the United Realty Trust Company, William C. Jutte has sold to Thomas D. Chantler a plot facing 68 feet on the south side of Castleman street, near Morewood avenue, Twentieth ward, and having a depth of 150 feet, for $14,250. The purchase was made for an investment.

The Pennsylvania railroad has purchased from Anne P. and Albert H. Childs a Twentieth ward property for $12,000. The lot is of irregular shape, having a frontage of 79 feet on the southeast side of Amberson avenue and an extreme depth of 201 feet and contains about one-fourth of an acre.

Work Assured for Contractors.

The following building contracts have been awarded: Vrydaugh & Wolfe to Kerr & Fox, for the stone parish house at Forbes and Craft avenues, for the St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church, $40,000; F. H. DeArment, for a brick store and apartment building at Wilson and Kelly streets, $18,000; A. L. McLaughlin to A. E. Gregg, four brick houses in Dalzell avenue, $20,000; F. C. Sauer to J. H. Schramm of Sharpsburg, the brick and stone parochial school building for the Croatian Roman Catholic church at Millvale, $15,000; F. G. Scheibler to George Sampson of Jos. Pa., a three-story brick and stone store and flat building in Oakwood street for Joseph Wright, $15,000; E. H. Balsinger to Murphy Bros., a brick and stone stable in Locust street for the Eclipse Laundry Company, $12,000; James Jones to Frank Jones, six frame houses in Elizabeth street, $9,000; the Duquesne Company to L. Benz & Bros., an addition to the plant at Twenty-second and Main streets, $8,000; George W. Dunn to the Nicola Building Company, a brick veneered house in McPherson street, $8,000; J. E. Mackrell to E. A. Reed, a nine-room frame house in Wightman street, $5,000; Elizabeth Malady to A. E. Gregg a ten-room brick house, $5,000.

What the Architects Are Doing.

Architect J. M. McCollum is receiving bids on the theater to be built in Connellsville by Charles Crosby and others at a cost of $100,000.

Architect W. A. Thomas is taking bids on a four-story brick store and flat building at the corner of Forbes and Beatty streets. The owner is H. A. Schaffer and the estimated cost is put at $20,000.

The Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville railway will shortly spend $100,000 in buildings at Uniontown, Pa. The plans for the buildings are now in the hands of Engineer W. D. Chapman and call for a car barn, 50x250 feet, a power house, 30x80 feet, and a repair building, 30x50 feet.

Architects Milligan & Miller have been commissioned to prepare plans for the United Brethren church at Wilkinsburg. The building will be of red brick with stone trimmings, and will cost about $15,000.

Architect F. J. Osterling is taking bids on remodeling the Allegheny High school building. The improvements include an entire new system of plumbing.

Only One Lot Purchased.

It was learned yesterday that only one of the Yoder lots in the rear of the Griswold hotel was sold to Morris Baer of Kaufmann Bros., instead of three as reported yesterday. This lot measures 22.5x80 feet and is improved with a new five-story warehouse worth about $25,000. This leaves the price for the realty only $15,000, or about $800 a front foot, which would indicate that as far as realty values in Second avenue are concerned, prices have gone down instead of advanced.

News of the Rivers.

The towboat Harry Brown is engaged in towing coal between Cairo and St. Louis.

The steamer Ben Hur is due in port tonight and leaves tomorrow for Parkersburg.

Capt. Frank Smith is said to have sold his towboat, formerly the Spread Eagle, moored at Madison, to Capt. M. M. Laidley.

The excursion steamer Francis J. Torrance, which is now moored at the Monongahela wharf, will be inspected today by the local steamboat inspectors.

Capt. James O. Wood is preparing to start for Canada on his usual summer outing. Capt. Woods spends three months every year in the vicinity of Sparrow lake.

Steward Jacob Stellar of the Tarascon lost his table by fire. It contained $500 worth of material which he intended to use in the construction of a new table.

Capt. Oliver Douds was in Pittsburgh yesterday, having partly recovered from his recent serious sick spell. The captain says that he has no thought of dying just yet.

Capt. D. L. McDonald has corn several inches high and says that his farm at Logstown looks fine. The recent frost slightly nipped the corn. He says that he will have new potatoes on July 4.

Edward S. Grant, the promoter of the pilots' combine, will address pilots of the Pittsburgh district this morning, and desires all to come to the meeting, whether they are interested in the organization or not.

Albert Fife, one of the best known mates on the local rivers, who until a few weeks ago had charge of the Gleaner, lost a son in the terrible explosion at Snyder. The boy was sitting on the hillside when it occurred.

Capt. John M. Phillips visited the river front yesterday, the first time in several months. The captain told his friends that he had not fully made up his mind as to what he will do in the future. He may go back to steamboating.

The steamer Queen City was due last midnight from Cincinnati and Capt. James A. Henderson says that there is plenty of water for the boat to come into port, notwithstanding the raising of the wickets at the Davis Island dam.

The government boat Slackwater is at Dam No. 2 on the Monongahela river putting splashboards on the dam for the purpose of giving the steamboat interests an additional 18 inches of water in that pool. Boards will be placed on the other dams.

There is little coal loaded at Louisville for New Orleans shipment. All of the boats now in the south will come up the Ohio river with tows of empties in the event of the water receding low. The water is too low at Louisville at present to continue shipments south.

Capt. Dana Scott, who was in Pittsburgh for several days, has returned to Zanesville. It is said that Capt. Scott is interested in a new steamboat which some of his friends contemplate building. While in Pittsburgh he secured information regarding certain lines in construction.

The excursion steamer Maydower's name, which has been painted on the sides of the vessel by the scenic artist of the Grand Opera house, is regarded as one of the finest bits of work seen in many days. The name is printed in flowers, May flowers, symbolical of the name of the steamer. It shows up well at night.

It is said among rivermen that it is a sure sign of bad luck to launch a new boat on Friday, and yet the only boat that was ever launched on Friday, April 4, 1902, is the finest and most successful ever built. She never had an accident and wore herself out after many years' service.

Saturday Excursion at 2 P. M. Steamer Francis J. Torrance.

ENGLISH MET FIRST DEFEAT OF TOURNEY

Yesterday's Game Looked Like an Easy Thing, but Proved the Reverse.

PHILLIPPI IN FINE FORM

"This is the hardest blow I have received since I began to think I could play billiards," was the lament of James English after the game at the Great Northern billiard hall yesterday afternoon. "I defeat all my men until I stack up against Phillippi, who has been losing the bulk of his games, and I go down before him."

This was one of the interesting games of the tournament. Phillippi displayed the best generalship. Seeing that his opponent did not have his stroke he played open billiards, which is his long suit, while English depends considerably on his close draws and fine touch. When Phillippi missed he left the balls so wide apart that it was almost impossible for English to gather them and play his usual studied game.

In the evening contest Marshall played a remarkable game against Beymer, whom he defeated 200 to 119. English and Marshall are now tied, with five won and one lost. As they meet tonight one or the other is bound to prove the winner of the first prize of $100. This afternoon Phillippi and Billings will meet and the tournament will probably close tomorrow.

HITCHING INTO TOWS.

Many Boats Will Make Up Their Coal Tows Today.

A number of towboats moored in the Pittsburgh harbor will today raise steam and proceed to the various landings between Pittsburgh and the Davis Island dam and hitch into tows of coal so as to be ready to start for the south as soon as a rise materializes.

Among the boats ordered to the landings include the Sam Brown, Mariner, Ironsides, Samuel Clark, Josh Cook, Hornet No. 2, Tom Rees and others. The Davis Island dam was raised yesterday and the putting up of the wickets will enable the coal towboats to drop coal into the Pittsburgh harbor. Splashboards are also being placed on the dams in the pools so as to raise the water, and this will also afford heavy craft opportunity to navigate. A slight rise is looked for, owing to yesterday's rains.

PITTSBURGH IS IN CRICKET LEAGUE

ORGANIZATION EMBRACES FIELD CLUB AND CANADIAN PLAYERS.

Cleveland, Detroit and Chatam Will All Play in This City—Local Enthusiasts Expect the Game to Boom Here—Team Is a Strong One.

Pittsburgh cricketers have gained the distinction of representation in an international league. Walter R. Huntley of the Pittsburgh Field club has returned from Detroit, where, as one of the delegates, he participated in the organization of the Central International Cricket league, comprising Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit and Chatham, Ont. The schedule which was agreed upon provides for a game in this city with each of the other cities and return games in Detroit, Cleveland and Chatham.

The local cricket enthusiasts are much stirred up over the prospects of the greatest season locally since the days when cricket was a strong sport here. The regular series of games for the international championships will do much to stir up the enthusiasm, and the trips away from home will be a feature. In addition to the Field club there are prospects of teams representing the English employes of the Westinghouse works and the old Homestead contingent.

Pittsburgh is recognized throughout the country as being capable of turning out a very formidable eleven of players with the wooden ball, though the game itself has not for years been so active here as around Philadelphia and in the east. Some noted English and Australian players are now to be found located in Pittsburgh. Last season Pittsburgh in the only intercity game played won a signal victory over the Cincinnati Cricket club at Cincinnati.

The International Cricket league was formed by the following representatives in attendance: R. B. Ridgeley of Detroit, E. A. Speed of Cleveland, J. J. Dodds of Chatham, Ont., and W. S. Huntley of Pittsburgh. The cricket committee of the Pittsburgh Field club, which is so actively booming the sport, is composed of F. H. Taylor, second vice president of the Westinghouse Electric Company, chairman; Burchand Harding, H. N. Laughlin, Clarence C. Preston and Walter S. Huntley.

MINE IDEAS OVERTHROWN IN CITY COUNCILS

Corporations Seeking Franchises Offer to Pay City for Them.

PEW'S BRIEF STATEMENT

Says Amount and Basis of Taxes Are Matters for Councils to Decide. Will Probably Be Placed on All Franchises Granted.

An unusual proposition in Pittsburgh was made to city councils on Monday night when the Pennsylvania Light, Heat and Power Company and the Pittsburgh Time and Signal Company, two corporations seeking franchises from the city, offered to pay 2 per cent of their gross receipts annually for the privilege.

At the same time an ordinance was presented asking a franchise for the City Electric Company, which J. N. Pew is promoting. The latter concern made no direct offer of remuneration, but agreed to submit to any tax that might in the future be imposed by councils. When seen last night and asked if his company would follow the example of the other two corporations, Mr. Pew said: "It is not for us to say what our taxes should be; that is a matter for councils to decide."

When two corporations had ordinances presented in common council offering to pay 2 per cent of their gross receipts to the city, the machine members were properly astonished.

Citizens Are Pledged.

Of course, the Citizens party men are pledged to exact payment for public franchises, and so their surprise was not so great, but the machine members were actually astounded, and some of them shook their heads deprecatingly at what they considered a bad precedent. Councilman C. Beckert, Jr., presented the ordinance for the Pennsylvania company and Councilman J. C. Wasson the one for the Pittsburgh Time and Signal Company.

Although the offers made by the companies are, compared with precedents, very liberal, the promoters will probably have to consent to an important modification of their measures before they can pass the common branch. That body is controlled by the Citizens party and the candidates on the ticket of that party stood on a platform, one plank of which limited the time for which franchises may be granted.

"The proposition made by those two companies is the fairest I have ever heard of in Pittsburgh," said Mr. Wasson yesterday, "but it doesn't meet all the requirements of the platform on which the Citizens party candidates were elected. One plank of that platform pertains to the granting of public franchises in perpetuity, and the ordinances in question contain no clause limiting the life of the franchises.

Must Have Time Limit.

"The members of councils belonging to the Citizens party cannot vote for the ordinances until they have been amended to embody that feature of the platform. I am told, however, that the gentlemen behind the ordinance I introduced are willing to conform to the ideas of the corporation committee in that respect. I presume that when we get the matter before the corporations committee and have thoroughly discussed it, an amendment specifying a time limit will be recommended and the company will undoubtedly accept it."

The president of the Pittsburgh Time and Signal Company is E. A. Schaefer, the Fifth avenue druggist; J. A. Koch, the Allentown druggist, is the secretary, and the members of the board of directors, including these two, are S. C. Strunz, W. T. Speer and Mr. Judd. The company wishes to lay wires for furnishing synchronized time, burglar and private alarms and similar electrical conveniences.

The City Electric Company has asked for a franchise for light, heat and power purposes, the ordinance having been presented by Councilman Thomas M. Brown. This company has made no direct offer of payment for the privileges it asks. Instead of proposing to pay a percentage of its gross receipts, like the Pennsylvania Light, Heat and Power Company, it agrees to submit to any tax that may in the future be imposed on other corporations in the same line of business in the city.

Will Pay If All Do.

J. N. Pew, president of the People's Gas Company, is one of the chief promoters of the City Electric Company, while ex-Mayor Charles Geyer of Allegheny is interested in the Pennsylvania company.

"The City Electric Company does not think it would be just to make it pay a tax when other corporations in the same business got their franchises for nothing and pay no tax," said Councilman Brown. "It is willing to submit to the same taxation that may be imposed on its competitors. The charter ordinance provides for a way to tax corporations already enjoying public franchises."

Regarding the plank in the Citizens party platform declaring against perpetual franchises, Mr. Brown said it would be adhered to by the councilmen belonging to that party, but he was in favor of granting franchises for a reasonable period. The capital necessary to effect big improvements could not be attracted, he said, if the term for which privileges were granted was too short. For example, a 25-year term, he said, would probably be too short, and in case franchises were to be granted it would be well to consider whether they ought not to run for 30 or 40 or 50 years.

BRANDED AS A "FAKE."

Harry Williams Denies the Story That He Will Erect a Theater at Atlantic City.

The story which came from Atlantic City the other day to the effect that Pittsburgh people contemplated building a theater there on the site of the old Academy of Music, at Illinois avenue and the Boardwalk, and that Harry Williams, the well-known Pittsburgh manager, was interested and would become manager of the new theater, is positively denied by Mr. Williams. He said:

"There is no truth in that story at all. I was in Atlantic City last Thursday, but I only went to see the fire ruins, and with no idea of building a theater. I have not been "Ed" Jackman for three months. I am not in the habit of building theaters. The best I do is to rent them after they are built."

Another Assault on Beef Trust.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 13.—Attorney General Davies today made application for the appointment of a referee to take testimony in the matter of the so-called beef trust, preliminary to framing a complaint. The application was granted and ex-Justice Laudon of Schenectady was appointed referee.

Politician Kills Himself.

CHICAGO, May 13.—Julius Solomas, former North Town collector and well known in Democratic politics, committed suicide here today. Ill health was the cause.

These desirable lots are not situated in the middle of a farm; they are in the heart of the very best residential district of Allegheny, running 600 feet along Brighton road and 600 feet back toward California ave., adjoining and being a part of the property until recently occupied by the Allegheny Country Club.

This property is level, lies high and dry and is free from the city smoke and dirt, being, in fact, cleaner and healthier than Bellevue, Avalon, the East End and other nearby suburbs.

The Brighton road and California ave. cars pass by this property, requiring about 25 minutes to reach the business center of Pittsburgh. The property is located about half way between Allegheny and Bellevue.

CONSOLIDATION MAY YET FOLLOW THE PLATE POOL

Dissatisfaction With Loose Organization Paving Way for the Change.

DOMINANCE OF COMBINE

United States Steel Corporation is Entrenching Itself Has Won Control of Many Important Branches of Finished Steel Business.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, May 13.—It is no secret that steel plate manufacturers have been dissatisfied for quite a while with the management of their "pool," otherwise the Steel Plate association. Its policy is such that manufacturers have twice advanced prices independently of the association, and the internal friction seems to be growing more acute.

A more or less direct result of this is likely to be another attempt to bring about a consolidation of eastern steel plate manufacturers. It will be remembered that Max Pam tried for several months to accomplish a merger of these interests and failed, whereupon there was formed the pool as it now exists.

The pooling agreement was not altogether satisfactory, even at the outset, because several parties subscribed only qualified consent. The Lukens Iron and Steel Company, for example, agreed to submit to pool authority in the matter of prices, but not as to tonnage. There is no reason to believe that it will be an easier task now to bring about a merger on the steel plate interests than it was several months ago, but it is a fact that pretty much the same organizers who were interested in the last previous attempt are looking over the field again, on the theory that a failure does not necessarily embarrass another trial.

Steel Corporation Dominant.

The United States Steel Corporation, of course, would be the dominating influence in any consolidation of eastern steel plate manufacturers, the same as it is now the dominating influence in the pool.

In this connection it is interesting to note that through majority voice in three of the most conspicuous pools in the trade the United States Steel Corporation dictates the price policy on a considerable percentage of finished products outside of its own output. It is a majority power in the steel rail pool and in the steel wire and nail pool, and so may be said to control the price policy of almost the entire output of these products. There is no question that it has been the influence of the United States Steel Corporation that has prevented the Steel Plate association from licensing an advance from the old minimum quotation of $1.78 a hundred pounds. Current prices are from 8d to 8d on higher than this minimum, and still the pool cannot be got to promulgate an advance.

The Combine Entrenching Itself.

The fact that United States Steel Corporation interests are conspicuous in the American Steel Foundries Company, now forming, has recalled attention to the quiet manner in which the combine has been intrenching itself.

First Charles M. Schwab got control of the Bethlehem Steel Company. Then Messrs. Schwab, Gary and several other gentlemen prominently identified with the United States Steel Corporation formed the Pocahontas coal syndicate, which, before being turned over to the Norfolk & Western Railroad Company, made a contract with the United States Steel Corporation whereby that combine secured a source of unlimited fuel supply for an indefinite time. Pretty much the same interests next were revealed in ascendency in the Allis-Chalmers Company, and again in a new organization called the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company, formulated Mr. Schwab became heavily interested in the International Nickel Company, the significance of which may be understood when it is remembered that nickel enters largely into the manufacture of certain grades of steel, and is bought in large quantities by the United States Steel Corporation.

Now these same interests appear in the American Steel Foundries Company. The United States Steel Corporation has been at considerable pains to deny official interest in any of these transactions, but such denials, of course, are always to be regarded as technical.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, May 13.—Eastern stockholders will be pleased to learn that the Isabella, at Cripple Creek, is looking up again. A new ore body is being exploited in the eleventh level and the mine is visibly improving. Six-ounce ore is being shipped from the new strike, the dimensions of which are not yet fully proven. The management is more hopeful of the property than it has been in years.

In the 900-foot workings of the Golden Cycle at Cripple Creek, a good body of ore has been uncovered, the rock assaying from $05 to $100 a ton. An important strike is reported to be in tunnel on Ethelite property, owned by the Metallic Gold Mining & Tunnel Company of Cleveland. The vein is said to be 41 feet wide and assays from $10 to $40 a ton. Some properties, however, may have been used in the test.

A correspondent at Albuquerque, N. M., write that several claims have been located in the Gallinas district, Lincoln county, which have a promising outlook. It is believed by persons who have examined the find that the district soon will come to the front as a copper producer.

Eugene (Ore.) reports a new discovery in the Blue river district. It is the Treasure, where ore running as high as $2,000 to the ton has been identified.

A dispatch from Lewiston, Ida., confirms the report of a good strike on the Last Chance, on Snake river. Prospects show from 12 to 14 feet of ore averaging 35 per cent copper.

A 1,000-foot shaft is to be sunk on the property of the Elizabeth Gold Hill Mining Company on the headwaters of the Naches river, Wash. It will take a year to complete the work, when machinery to reduce the ore, which carries values of $15 to $20 gold, $28 in silver and $2 40 in lead, will be put in.

The Metal Market.

Locally there was some advance in prices for tin as a result of a gain abroad. The closing price for spot here was $29 80@30 20, and at London the gain was about 15 shillings. That closed at £136 15s and futures at £133 5s. Copper was firmer here, with standard, spot to August at $11 70@12 00; Lake, $12 12½@12 27½; electrolytic, $11 80@12 00, and casting, $11 75@12 00. The London copper market closed 2s 6d higher, with spot and futures at £74 5s and sales of 300 tons spot and 250 tons futures recorded. The local market for lead ruled steady and unchanged at $4 12½, while at London the closing price was 1s 3d higher, at £11 12s. Spelter ruled steady here at $4 45. At London the price declined 1s 3d lower, to £18 11s 3d. The local iron market maintained a quiet and steady tone at unchanged values. Pig iron warrants were still nominal. No. 1 foundry, northern, $19 00@20 00; No. 2 foundry, northern, $18 00@19 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, $17 50@18 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, soft, $17 50@18 00. The foreign markets were about steady. Glasgow closed at 53s 7d and Middlesboro at 48s 9d.

Professionals Have Field to Themselves

STOCK MARKET REGAINS SOME RECENT LOSSES

SOME BULLISH FEATURES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, May 13.—Today's stock market was a dull and narrow affair between professional traders for the most part, but the stronger tone was unmistakable. To a large extent this was a natural recovery from yesterday's weakness. The influences which weakened the market then were alleviated and removed today, and there was a considerable demand from the professional short interest which sold stocks short yesterday on the unfavorable deiveopments.

The publication of the government's unfavorable report of crop conditions May 1 induced considerable realizing by the short interest. The decline in the condition of winter wheat was hardly so great as expected, but the abandoned acreage proved larger than supposed. The professional shorts were disposed on the whole to take their profits, and they were urged to this course by the additional argument that the favorable weather since the first of the month must represent a notable improvement in the crop since the date of the government's report. Pressure against the shorts was also exerted by the circulation of rumors of a favorable turn in the anthracite strike situation, but no information on this point was forthcoming.

Some Wide Recoveries.

Apparently the liquidation forced by the more urgent discrimination by money lenders against collateral was completed yesterday, and there were no such formidable breaches in the prices of high grade stocks as on yesterday, when that feature was a strong sentimental influence against the market. Some of the wide advances scored today, in fact, simply represented recoveries or partial recoveries from yesterday's severe declines. The money situation was somewhat easier today, although loans were made at as high as ¼ per cent. The foreign banking houses were the large leaders in the market, and the continued decline in exchange reflected further borrowing from foreign money markets, under which the money rate weakened. The selling of exchange in this operation is, in effect, going short in the exchange market and represents requirements for exchange to be met in the future. To some extent it is a speculation on the future volume of our exports, which depends most largely on the size of the coming corn crop. Buying of stocks for London account was a strengthening factor in the market. The lower rate for money still ruling abroad makes it profitable for domestic buyers of American stocks to purchase them in London and hold them with money borrowed there.

London Eases the Situation.

As the floating supply in London is small, the technical effect is to induce purchases in New York by the arbitrage brokers to cover this demand in London, while the shipments of stocks from New York are offered by sales of exchange here, thus relieving the demand for credits on the local money market.

Yesterday's sharp relapses in some stocks awakened skepticism as to the source of the recent demand for stocks said to be for control by large interests. But the Louisville & Nashville episode and the known character of some of the recent distribution of Reading among other railroad interests keep alive the conviction that there is a tendency toward the lodgment of stocks in strong hands for good.

The state of suspension of the Northern Securities case clearly does not prevent the progress of plans for control, as the question involved there is one of method in holding stocks after they have been secured. A rumor circulated today, although emphatically denied, that the Northern Securities interests intended to abandon their present plan, resulted in a drop in the stock on the curb to 90, which is its first fall below par. The stock market closed dull and firm.

The bond market was dull and somewhat irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,310,000. United States seconds and 3s declined ¼ per cent on the last call.

Flour Quotations Firmer

PITTSBURGH PRICES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

New Potatoes Arriving Freely. Eggs Weak With Demand Very Slow.

Hay, Grain and Feed.

In every description there is steadiness which maintains quotations, oats, corn and millfeed being especially strong. The most noticeable feature has been manifested in hay, where heavy receipts and limited quantity of top grades have kept prices down; accumulations are cleaning up now and there is some indication that the market may be firmer before the end of the week.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 43 cars hay, 3 cars oats, 1 car corn and oats; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 2 cars hay, 1 car feed. Total receipts, 50 cars.

Following are the official quotations for hay, millfeed, corn, oats and straw, corrected by the superintendent of the Pittsburgh grain exchange:

Groceries.

The government report of a shortage in the wheat crop has greatly added to the strength of the flour situation and this have advanced prices fully 10 cents a barrel. Local jobbers all realize the fact that an advance is warranted here, but so far there has been no general movement. The wholesale grocery houses apparently waiting for each other. The range of quotations, it is asserted, should be $4 00@4 40 for fancy spring patents, and these prices are not shaded at any time.

Flour—Jobbers' prices: Fancy spring patents, $4 20@4 30; fancy winter patents, $4 05@4 10; straight winter, $3 90@4 00; bakers' spring, high grade, $3 85@4 00; straight, $3 75@3 80; graham, $4 20@4 50; cornmeal, bbl, $3 50@3 60; 10-lb cotton bags, 10@20c.

Local Stocks Were Dull, but Steadier, Rallies Occurring in Most Issues

CRUCIBLE STEEL WAS ACTIVE AND CLOSED FIRMER

Two Bank Stocks Were Marked Up $5 Each to New High Records.

FIRE PROOFING FIRMER

Electric Seconds Advanced 1⅝. Westinghouse Airbrake Did Not Sell—Window Glass Common Dull but Fractionally Higher.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was dull, but the tone at the close was generally steadier and most of the issues dealt in showed advances of more or less importance. The rally was due to a better feeling in the east, but was not at any time very pronounced; nor did it have the appearance of much strength or desirability. The heaviest trading of the day was in Crucible Steel common, which opened at 21¾ and went off ⅛, but rallied and closed finally fairly firm at 22, a gain of ⅜ for the day, sales having been almost 2,000 shares. The preferred was also firmer and ⅝ higher at 85½, after selling at 85 at one time during the day. All told 1,207 shares changed hands. What caused the recovery in these issues was not apparent, unless it was sympathy with the east. The rumor that the company would guarantee a new issue of $9,000,000 bonds by the St. Clair Steel Company was officially and emphatically denied. The United States Steels did not participate in the activity. Only 100 of the common sold at 41, Monday's price, and the preferred passed without a trade of any kind, quoting at 90½ bid and 91 asked. In the banking group Federal National rallied $1 to 136 and Traders & Mechanics advanced $5 to $70, a new high record, though this price was $11 below last week's highest bid. Dollar Savings Fund & Trust Company sold up $5 to $260, also a new high record. Commonwealth Real Estate & Trust Company gained $3 at $258 bid, $3 higher than Monday's sales, which were the initial ones of the stock. Fire Proofing issues were dull but firmer, each rallying ⅝. Westinghouse Electric seconds were in fair demand and advanced 1⅝ to 104⅝. Airbrake did not sell, quoting at 185@180½. Window Glass common was dull but steadier and fractionally higher. The preferred lost $2 50 at 92. Philadelphia Company common was quite active, over 1,300 shares selling at 48¾@49, a loss of ½. The coal stocks were dull but without material change. Bonds were very dull.

The weakness in Union attracted considerable attention in consequence of the statements recently made of its prospective arrangements with Louisville & Nashville. Liquidation by traders who have followed the lead of manipulators of the stock, was thought to explain the decline.

The Allegheny Trust Company has sent out an official notice that a large majority of the stockholders of the Third National bank of Allegheny have agreed to the proposition of the Allegheny Trust to exchange their holdings for a share of the Allegheny Trust Company and $412 50 per share in cash. Those who desire it are to be paid $282 50 per share in cash. The stockholders of the company are to meet May 19 to vote on a proposed increase in the capital from $500,000 to $700,000.

The heaviest trading of the forenoon was in Crucible Steel common and Philadelphia Company common. Later those buyers got 200 more Philadelphia common from Hill & Co.

Dick wired Sproul: "Now that money has eased up the various Chicago pools have started to work. Colorado Fuel and Iron is being pushed up and it looks as though Union Pacific might be made the card. Heavy buying of this stock by London represents shifting of accounts from here there. As there has been pretty fair liquidation we should expect to have a good rally. With easier money we will have gold exports and it looks to us as though the position to take was to sell on all strong days."

The following circular was yesterday received by the stockholders of Colonial Trust Company: "At a meeting of the board of directors, held May 1, it was unanimously resolved that the City Trust Company be acquired by merger, and to that end all of the stock of the said City Trust Company has been optioned by M. K. McMullin. A stockholders' meeting has been called to ratify the action of your board, to be held May 22. The plan adopted by the board of directors and that of the City Trust Company is as follows: A share of the stock of the Colonial Trust Company and $30 per share in cash to be paid to the Colonial Trust Company. The capital stock of the consolidated company will be $2,000,000, or $1,500,000 for the present Colonial Stock Company and $500,000 for the City Trust Company. M. K. McMullin holds options upon the stock of the City Trust Company, which requires him to deliver to the stockholders of that company 3,500 shares of the consolidated company (valued at $250 per share, the original subscription price), and $75,000 in cash. To raise this cash he proposes to offer to the present stockholders of the Colonial Trust Company, in proportion to their holdings, the 1,500 shares of the consolidated company remaining in his hands at $250 per share, which will yield $625,000. After paying the City Trust Company stockholders $375,000, he will have left $150,000 equal to $90 per share to be paid on the 5,000 shares allotted to him for the Colonial Company's which he will pay in to be added to the surplus fund of the Colonial Trust Company. BIG GAIN MADE.

Pittsburgh Bank Exchanges for Yesterday Over $1,386,000 Larger Than a Year Ago.

Compared with the preceding Tuesday there was also an increase of $1,100,000. The local money market is responding to the tightness in New York by working considerably firmer, and a good deal of money is being placed in New York to take advantage of the high rates prevailing there. When the situation there eases up it will be brought home again. Meantime the rate for call and time loans continues at 5@6 per cent. Office of

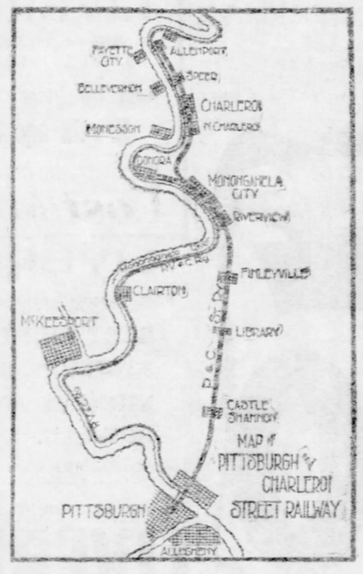
Pittsburgh, Pa., May 12, 1902.

TO T. MELLON & SONS' BANK and THE UNION TRUST COMPANY OF PITTSBURGH:

I wish to state for your information that the payment of the issue of bonds of the Pittsburgh & Charleroi Street Railway Company, dated May 1, 1902, is secured by a first mortgage (subject only to $135,000 of bonds on the Charleroi & West Side Road, now merged with this Company, which bonds are to be redeemed by an equal amount of bonds of the present issue, reserved and held by the Trustee for that purpose) upon the railway and all the property and franchises of the Company. The road extends from its connection with the Pittsburgh & Birmingham Traction Company southwardly in an almost direct line through Finleyville to Monongahela City, Charleroi and other towns of the upper Monongahela Valley, a distance of 27 and one-half miles.

The mortgage covers the rights secured by agreement for a term of nine hundred (900) years with the Pittsburgh & Birmingham Traction Company for the operation of its cars over that Company's lines in the City of Pittsburgh to and from the Union Station, under contract similar to that of the Monongahela Street Railway Company over the lines of the Consolidated Traction Company.



The Charleroi and Monongahela City sections of the road have been in operation about two years and the earnings per car have averaged greater than those of the Consolidated Traction Company of Pittsburgh. The territory between these two towns, and on both sides of the Monongahela River, is a succession of rapidly expanding manufacturing and mining towns, all tributary to the Pittsburgh & Charleroi Line. Fully 30 per cent of the population of Washington County is in this district, in addition to that of such towns as Monessen, Bellevernon and Fayette City.

The present facilities for travel between this great district and the City of Pittsburgh, whose business relations must necessarily be close, are by way of the steam lines, which make long detours by way of the river valley. The new line, by its direct route across the country, will greatly shorten the distance:—for instance, from Pittsburgh to Monongahela City by Steam railroad is 30.9 miles, and to Charleroi 40.6 miles, while by the proposed line the distance will be 23.8 miles and 30 miles, respectively. Also, the distance between this thriving portion of Washington County and the County Seat will be reduced, by way of Finleyville, fully 40 miles.

The tracks of the Company, except where they traverse the streets of the various towns through which they pass, will be upon the private rights of way of the Company, and over which there will be no grade crossings of public roads. The high speeds that can therefore be maintained, and the saving in distance over the present lines, together with the usual low fares of trolley service, will make this line the popular one.

The road-bed and the superstructure is of the most substantial character, requiring heavier excavation and construction work than has been attempted with other electric roads, but adopted with the view to operating at the minimum operating costs. Construction of the entire line is well on towards completion, it being expected that the line will be in through operation early this summer.

The road has been leased to the United Traction Company of Pittsburgh for a term of nine hundred (900) years, and under the terms of this lease THE PAYMENT OF THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF THIS ISSUE OF BONDS IS ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED BY THE UNITED TRACTION COMPANY OF PITTSBURGH, AND ALSO BY THE PHILADELPHIA COMPANY OF PITTSBURGH.

Yours respectfully,
W. L. MELLON, President,
Pittsburgh & Charleroi Street Railway Company.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 12, 1902.

The undersigned offer $2,000,000 of above described bonds at 105 per cent and accrued interest. Subscription list will be opened at the respective offices of the undersigned on FRIDAY, May 16, 1902, at 10 o'clock A. M., and will be closed at 3 o'clock P. M. or earlier the same day. The right is reserved to reject any applications or to award a smaller amount than applied for.

Payment for bonds allotted must be made on or before May 19, and transferable interim certificates will be delivered pending the engraving of the bonds.

The undersigned consider the bonds above described as of the highest class of local traction bond securities, equal to those commanding much higher prices, and recommend them as an investment of undoubted character.

JURY REDUCED THROUGH LOSS IN EXPLOSION

Joseph Hanna Was Injured at Sheraden After Leaving Court.

ELEVEN MEN TRIED CASE

C. W. Rickley Acquitted of Charge of Embezzling $2,200 From Dunlevy & Bro.—Reckless Shooter Sentenced to Four Years.

In the Criminal court yesterday, Christian W. Reckley was acquitted of a charge of embezzlement preferred by Paul C. Dunlevy, of Dunlevy & Bro., No. 615 Liberty avenue. Reckley, who had been employed as a collector and salesman of the prosecutor was accused of embezzling $2,200.

Charles Walker pleaded guilty to a charge of felonious assault and battery and was sentenced to the Western penitentiary for four years. On the evening of April 14 he fired four shots into a crowded bar room in Wylie avenue and seriously wounded William Steen of No. 1826 Larkins alley.

John Jarridine was found guilty of the larceny of $20 from John Mullitt of No. 406 Ferry street and sent to the workhouse for six months.

In the cross assault and battery suits brought by Abe and Louis Robenstein against Harry Oppenheimer the verdict had to be received from a jury of 11 men. Justice Joseph Hanna of Bridgeville, the twelfth juror, who started home Monday evening, was caught in the explosion at Sheraden and burned so badly he had to be removed to Mercy hospital. In both cases the defendants were found guilty.

NOT LEGAL DIVORCE.

Dakota Separation Overruled by Allegheny County Judge in Ainsworth Against Ainsworth.

A Dakota divorce figures in the divorce case of Lydia against Frank Ainsworth, in which the report of the commissioner was filed yesterday.

Desertion on February 27, 1897, is charged. Upon that date Ainsworth went away and later the libelant received this letter:

"You think I do not do right to you, so you can enjoy yourself. I say good-bye forever. Yours truly, F. Ainsworth."

The libelant declares the next thing she heard from her husband was a notice that he had been granted a divorce in Dakota. After this Ainsworth returned to Pittsburgh and his wife charged him with desertion and non-support. At the hearing Ainsworth offered his Dakota divorce as a defense and Judge Frazer held it would not stand.

Says Bureau Was a Fake.

Suit for damages was entered by Edward Stillmaker against George Eisle. The plaintiff declares that he met the defendant in answer to an advertisement and that Eisle took him to an employment bureau at No. 704 Duquesne way. It is alleged that Eisle represented to the plaintiff that he had paid $200 for one-half interest in the business, and that it was paying from $15 to $20 a day. Stillmaker says he paid the defendant $200 for his interest, and later discovered that not only were the defendant's statements false, but that the bureau was a fraud on the public. A capias was issued for the defendant.

Banson Was Non-Suited.

A non-suit was granted yesterday in the case of Rudolph C. Banson against Charles C. Anderson for $5,000 for alleged slander. It was charged that when President McKinley was assassinated the defendant declared the plaintiff had stated that "he got no better than he deserved." The plaintiff did not make out a case.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

The Blairsville Incubator Company was adjudged a bankrupt. Joseph Diamond was discharged from bankruptcy.

Dr. Morris B. Michel was awarded $5,000 damages against the Southern Traction Company for personal injuries.

The will of Emanuel Schley of Allegheny was filed. An estate valued at $11,500 is left to the widow of the deceased.

Miss Blanche E. Clarke took out letters of administration in the $5,000 estate of William L. Clarke. Attorney F. H. Kennedy represents the estate.

F. W. Hooper and wife recovered $1,500 from the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railway Company for injuries received by Mrs. Hooper. At the first trial the plaintiffs were awarded $8,500.

The case of the Commonwealth Iron Company of Cleveland, against the Salem Iron Company of Leetonia, O., was on trial before Judge Buffington. It will be continued this morning.

In the United States circuit court the case of S. M. Hamilton & Co. of Baltimore, against the Hocking & Duncombe Coal Company of Meyersdale, Pa., was continued yesterday and will be taken up again this morning. It is an action to recover $12,000 for a breach of contract.

Kitty Lee, a boardinghouse keeper of Pittsburgh, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court. Her liabilities are $4,925 and assets $275. A similar petition was filed by Louis Lautner, a carpenter of Pittsburgh. He owes $19,957 and has assets worth $90.

The case of M. B. McKee against J. J. and C. A. Weldon is on trial. McKee claims that the defendants induced him to invest $1,000 in the Weldon Company upon the ground that they would give him a position, and upon other misrepresentations, and shortly after the company failed.

Verdicts were returned in favor of the City of Pittsburgh on sewer assessments. The plaintiffs and the verdict against them were as follows: S. H. Craven, $389; George F. McCleane, $394; Robert McKee, $75.04; James Austen, $74.24; Sarah E. Perkins, $370 and $371; Mrs. Louisa J. Herron, $243; W. A. Herron, $146.81.

An opinion was handed down in the crossuits in equity of John Ralston and others against Herbert L. Hunsen. The court directs that the defendants turn over to the plaintiffs stock in the D. C. Cunningham Glass Company for $12,572.81 under a contract made with Thomas C. Hunsen, now deceased, who was a partner on the formation of the company.

The following Butler county cases were heard in the superior court: Lewis C. Wick, against the Fraternities Accident Order, appellant, an action on a certificate; Newton Hillard, anti-plaintiff, against Henry G. Donnelly, an action in ejectment; Emma J. Kisgaddon, appellant, against Findley E. Dodds, et al, an action in ejectment; Margaret Reep against Eli Reep et al, an action for goods taken.

KEPT HIS PROMISE.

Mother's Appeal That License Court Be Informed Concerning Liquor Dealer Remembered.

For about two hours yesterday afternoon Judges R. S. Frazer and Elliott Rodgers heard two applications for liquor licenses which had been held over at the regular session of the license court. The applications were contested and it was claimed that the applicants had sold liquors to boys last year.

When A. C. Lingerman of Evergreen, Shaler township, was called for a hearing many of his neighbors appeared against him and swore that he had conducted a very disorderly place during the past year and besides keeping his place open after 10 o'clock had admitted and sold liquors to women and boys.

B. Turrets, another hold-over for a license at Wilson station, Jefferson township, also had to face a long array of witnesses who testified that Turrets had during the past year sold liquor to boys. Matthew Miller, 20 years old, told the court he had bought liquor in Turrets' place and the young man's father, on being questioned by the court about a letter the court had received from him, testified that it had been written because Miller's wife on her deathbed had extracted from him that he would inform the court by letter that Turrets had sold liquor to her boy.

SAYS HE IS DIVORCED.

R. O. Barber of Grove City, Arrested for Desertion, Denies the Charge.

R. O. Barbor of Grove City was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of desertion and non-support made by Mrs. Hattie J. Barbor of Wilkinsburg before Alderman Toole.

Mrs. Barbor says she was married to Barbor at Wilmerding about 15 years ago. He was a carpenter of steady habits, and all went well with them until five years ago, when Barbor disappeared. She did not hear from him until a few weeks ago, when she learned that he was living at Grove City. She discovered that her husband was living with a woman whom he claims as his wife and that the couple have three children. According to Barbor, when he left this city he went west and located in Kansas, where he secured a divorce from the wife he had deserted in Wilmerding. He married his present wife shortly after and they have lived in different parts of the west since. He claims Mrs. Barbor No. 1 knew that he had secured a divorce, as she was notified at the time and did not contest the suit. Barbor furnished $500 bail for his appearance at court during the June term.

"A Good-Night Kiss," by the Tonnesson sisters, will be an Art Supplement given free with The Sunday Gazette of May 18.

The Magnificence of the Summer Silks

shown in our silk department marks the climax of silk weaving. The harmony of tints in the colored silks is effectively worked out, the plain colors are superb in their intense or quiet hues, as the case may be.

We never had so many color combinations nor so many plain colors, nor do we recall ever having sold excellent silks for such moderate prices.

It is our determination to give the best values obtainable to silk buyers for the very smallest prices, that have, step by step, built up our wonderful silk business.

Briefly of some popular priced Silks:

COLORED SILKS.

Crepe de Chine, Crepe Meteore, Crepe Faconne—this season's newest colorings—street and evening shades—$1, $1.25, $1.50 a yard.

Grenadines in black with white and white with black—44-inch widths—$2 to $3.50 a yard.

VERY SPECIAL—9,000 yards of Printed Foulards, Liberty Satin and Liberty Satin Broche, comprising thirty styles—five to seven colors to each style—the best selection of this season's designs and colorings—two grades at these prices—75c and 85c Quality, At 50c Yd. $1 and $1.25 Quality, At 65c Yd.

BLACK SILKS.

A collection of Black Silks that is replete with everything new that has been brought out for the Spring and Summer of 1902. The Crepes de Chine are of engaging beauty—more so than ever.

Plain Black Crepe de Chine—an excellent black—$1.25 quality—for 85c a yard.

Fancy Crepe de Chine—6 styles in a $1.50 grade—for the very special price of 68c a yard.

Peau de Cygne—a bright, soft and lustrous silk that makes up into the handsomest of garments—an 85c quality for 65c a yard.

Black Moire Velours—a fine and popular weave—75c, 85c, $1 and $1.25 a yard.

Supplementary Lace News.

Some middle-of-the-week Lace news just as interesting as that we gave Monday. And how you did respond to that rather unusual offer!

We don't mind saying we like to do the unusual—in no department more than in that of Laces.

Another installment for to-day:

FRENCH VALENCIENNES LACES—the 25c and 35c kinds for 10c and 12½c the dozen yards.

NORMANDY VALENCIENNES LACES, they are just one-half what they sold for last week—25c goods now 12½c—80c goods now 40c a yard.

WIDE BLACK CHANTILLY LACES—they were scarce in the early Spring, but we offer these while they last for half prices.

$1.50 a yard kind for 75c is a hint of one of the many prices—that is to say, there are several grades for half prices.

COLONIAL.

3-STRAP OXFORD.
Sizes 2½ to 8. Widths, AA to D.

STREET OXFORD.

Three Samples of Queen Quality Oxfords, $3.00 Each.

But women will please understand there are 17 other styles and any number of them sell only for $2.50.

Queen Quality Shoes—both boots and oxfords—have come to be looked upon by women of sound judgment as the only really high grade shoe to be found anywhere for the moderate price of $3.

In other words, their judgment is only a verification of the oft-made statement that Queen Quality Shoes are the best in the whole world for the money.

Of the three Oxfords mentioned here, we have to say of each that it is the highest type of a fashionable low-cut shoe—and each is entirely dissimilar to the other.

THE COLONIAL is made of dull kid finished with an immense gun metal buckle in the style of a hundred years ago. It is admirable either for street or house wear.

THE 3-STRAP OXFORD is made of patent ideal kid finished with a very light sole and French heel, and is strictly a party or dress Oxford.

THE STREET OXFORD is exactly what its name implies—a graceful and stylish low-cut shoe for street wear with a sturdy sole and a modified military heel.

In Queen Quality Boots, by popular consent the name now used for women's shoes of regular cut, we have some 40 styles, each style selling for $3. Every leather used in the making of feminine footwear is used in Queen Quality Shoes.
